Judge upholds verdict

► Juror moves, takes bus ride to Grayling to fulfill his civic duty

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

In the 24 years that public defender James Deamud has been on the job, he said he has never seen a case such as this.

Deamud, representing convicted armed robber Roger Bruce Matt who was present in the courtroom, presented a motion in 46th Circuit Trial Court on March 6 to have the February 20 guilty verdict against his client thrown out, or vacated, after it was discovered one of the jurors no longer lives in Crawford County.

Matt was found guilty on four felony counts, including armed robbery for holding up a clerk at the Admiral gas station on the I-75 Business Loop in Grayling on September 3. Michigan State Troopers caught up with him in Kalkaska County after he fled from Grayling on a motorcycle he had hidden near the freeway.

Judge Dennis F. Murphy listened to statements regarding juror Thomas T. Lobsinger from both Deamud and Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss. Both agreed Lobsinger made a good juror and showed no prejudice toward Matt during juror questioning, but they never asked him if he still lived in the county.

Lobsinger's change of residency was not realized until after the guilty verdict was rendered, jurors were collecting their fees and mileage from the County Clerk's office, and the courthouse had been cleared.

When Lobsinger handed the clerk his bus ticket from the Detroit area community of Madison Heights, the prosecutor and attorney were notified. Deamud filed his motion to vacate within a few days of the trial.

Judge Murphy reviewed Michigan law and case law of similar circumstances and took a very close look at the situation.

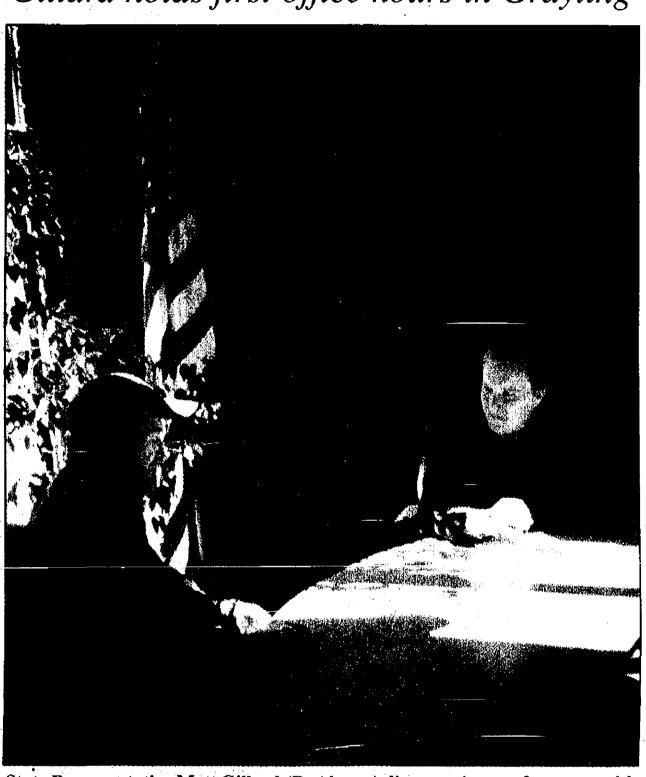

Lobsinger lived in Grayling at the time he received and completed his juror questionnaire. He signed it on August 7, 2002. In January, 2003 he was notified by forwarded mail that he had been selected for jury duty in February. Judge Murphy said sometimes questionnaires are filled out a year in advance of jury selection, so things can change during that time.

"The attorneys believed we were dealing with a resident of the county," Judge Murphy said. He added that it is not customary to ask potential jurors if they are still a resident of the county or if they have a new address.

"Apparently, Mr. Lobsinger moved to Madison Heights between August 7, 2002 and the trial dates of February 19 and 20, 2003," said Judge Murphy, "His.

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

It was a busy evening at the Big Boy restaurant in Grayling on March 5 as local "Celebrity Servers" waited tables to earn tips to benefit the Crawford County D.A.R.E. program in local schools.

Members of the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, along with local school officials and folks from the media donned aprons, sturdy shoes and D.A.R.E. T-shirts, then waited on an array of citizens who came to show their support.

Waiting tables that night was Sheriff Kirk Wakefield, who earned the largest single tip of $60 from a table of women who insisted he dance for the money. He obliged. Undersheriff Shawn Krayes, School Liaison Deputy Bill Bonkowski, and D.A.R.E. Coordinator Deputy Randy Herman rounded out the staff for the Sheriff's office.

"We had a lot of fun," said Undersheriff Krayes. "We raised more than we thought we would and we were all impressed with the high school Continued on Page 3A

Thirty-nine different quilt blocks are shown in the book and the guild decided to make a quilt containing all of the blocks and then donate the quilt to the Crawford County Devereaux Memorial Library.

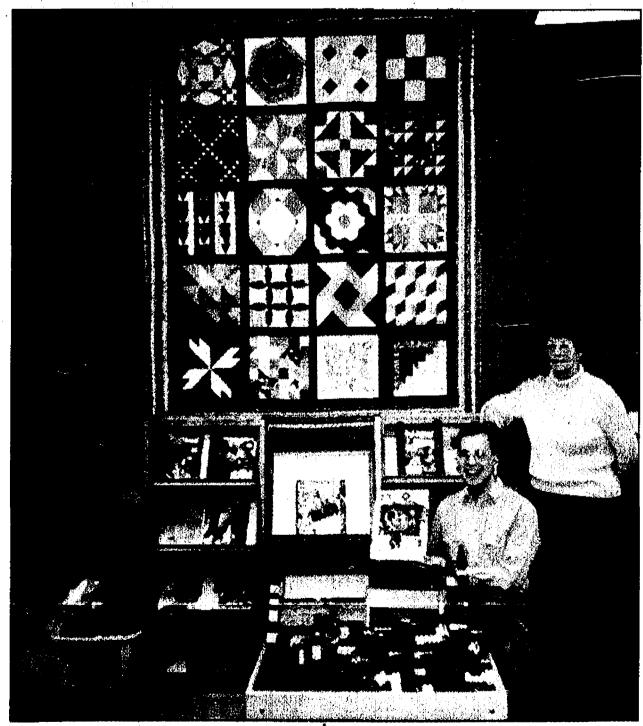

Sue Gilpin of Johannesburg, and Carla Aderente of Ann Arbor, provided 12 inch patterns for each of the blocks. Each guild member selected at least one block to make.

The blocks were then assembled by Gilpin and Aderente, with 20 blocks on each side of the quilt. The fortieth block is the logo of the guild. When they were finished, Mary White and Kathy Burkitt, owners of In The Woods Quilting, in Grayling did the quilting.

The blocks were made in the same colors as shown in the book so that when the book is read during story hour, children will be able to identify the block on the quilt.

Teenager told to tow the line

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

After seven months in the county jail, a 17-year old who faced up to 10 years in state prison for breaking into a Grayling Township home, was set free last week.

Casey Nelson Darling pled guilty in February to breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny in a plea agreement with Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss. Seven other serious charges stemming from a crime spree last year were dismissed in exchange for his plea.

At his sentencing before Judge Dennis F. Murphy on March 6 in 46th Circuit Trial Court, Darling was given credit for 215 days already served, with the remainder of jail time held in abeyance. Huss stated he did not support Darling leaving jail before serving a full year.

Darling's court appointed attorney, James Deamud, said his client has gone through a lot of changes since being jailed. "I watched his self esteem come up... he realizes he has made a shambles of his young life," Deamud said. The attorney told the court what Darling really needs is to "get out of this community" and get away from his past associations.

"You're very lucky to have against you only a single charge of breaking and entering," Judge Murphy told Darling.

Huss said there were six to

eight additional incidents he could have charged against Darling, but the paperwork would be too voluminous.

"Well, maybe you shouldn't be dismissing all of these charges," commented Judge Murphy to Huss. A Department of Corrections pre-sentencing report recommended a stiffer sentence for the teenager, but Darling's older sister offered to take him into her home and get him on the right track.

"I was lonely, depressed, confused, suicidal and drug addicted at the time (of the crimes)," Darling explained to Judge Murphy. "I plan to live with my sister in Ionia when I get out."

Deamud stated he found his client did not receive services due him and that the Crawford AuSable School District "pulled funding" for his special needs while at the Second Chance school. Deamud said Darling has plans to continue his education which ended formally in the 7th grade and will be getting a job when he relocates.

Judge Murphy appeared reluctant to turn the teenager back out into the community, but remarked that Deamud and Huss knew more about Darling and his case, therefore would trust their judgement in the matter.

The most serious accident this past weekend involved two local women drivers and their passengers, whose vehicles collided at about 7:15 p.m. on Sherman Road in Maple Forest Township.

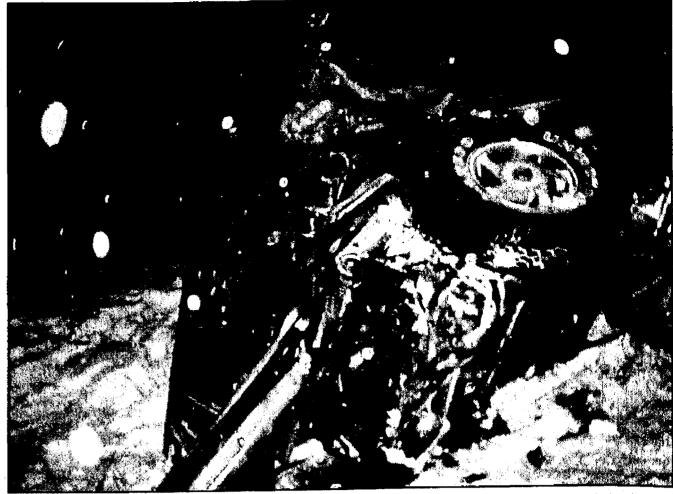

Cynthia Annette Britten, age-46 of Grayling, told Crawford County Sheriff's Deputy John McDonald she was driving south on Sherman Road, near West Marker Road and lost control of her car on the snow and ice, then slid sideways and nearly head-on into the path of a Ford Explorer driven by 56-year old Connie Swander, of Grayling, who was approaching northbound.

After being struck by Britten's car, Swander's SUV slid sideways and rolled onto its side in the ditch. Luckily, no one sustained life-threatening injuries.

Frederic Township Fire and Rescue personnel responded to the scene and used the Jaws of Life to help gain access to Swander and her granddaughter, eight-year old Josie Swander, as well as Britten's passenger, 34year old Rebecca Sue Kemper of Frederic.

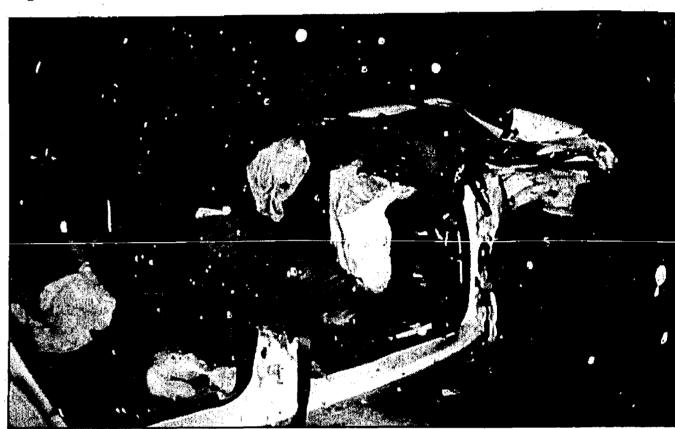

A Mobile Medical Response (MMR) ambulance and crew also responded to help Frederic transport all four accident victims to Mercy Hospital in Grayling, where all but Swander were reported to have been treated and notice for jury duty was forwarded to him, he hopped on a bus -not knowing any better -- so he could serve his civic duty."

Murphy called Lobsinger's actions "laudable, almost supercivic duty." He said no one would expect a juror to show up, but Lobsinger did the "exact opposite" of what most jurors would do in the same situation. Many people try to find any excuse to get out of jury duty.

Judge Murphy also considered the fact that there were 13 jurors in all -- including an alternate -who sat through the trial and that it took those 12 people only 18 minutes to render their unanimous verdict. "Apparently, the jurors found the case cut and dry, but what must be done about this now?"

After considering all the facts and reviewing the law, Judge Murphy found Lobsinger fit all criteria of a proper juror with the exception of his residency, which he described as "an innocent mistake," but with no proof of any prejudice.

He added that the subject of residency should have come up during the selection process, if Deamud interjected that Lobsinger's trip back to Grayling would not seem unusual to anyone who knows him because he has a significant amount of family here.

Arsonist receives jail time, lengthy probation

Gerald Arthur Mayhew admitted to 46th Circuit Trial Court Judge Dennis F. Murphy that he tried to set fire to an old ice manufacturing plant in Frederic Township last August 16. "I've learned from my mistakes and I will do anything it takes to get out of jail, your honor," Mayhew

"So far, you have only burned vacant buildings," stated Judge Murphy to Mayhew. "Why do you keep burning things?" he

"I don't know, your honor," Mayhew replied. "I've been burning things since I was a little kid. I hope I don't do it again."

Since being incarcerated more than six months ago, Mayhew has been receiving counseling for his mental health needs. He has 66 more days to serve to fulfill his jail time.

Judge Murphy and Prosecutor John Huss agreed Mayhew, who receives Social Security Disability pay and went as far as the ninth grade in school, would not be "cured" of his problems by placing him in jail or prison for an extended period of time. They agreed by placing him on lengthy probation, he would have to check in periodically with a probation officer who could monitor his progress with the local mental health agency.

"I am compelled by law to provide treatment," said Judge Murphy. "If Mr. Mayhew violates his probation, he faces five years in prison." As part of his sentencing, Mayhew was ordered to perform community service released from jail. Another stipulation added allows enforcement to detain Mayhew for 72 hours if he is suspected on violating his probation.

Purse snatcher pleads guilty to lesser charge

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

In a plea agreement with Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss, William Benjamin Boyd pled guilty March 3 to a charge of larceny to person stemming from an incident on December 4 at Glen's Family Market.

Under oath, 20-year old Boyd told 46th Circuit Trial Court Chief Judge Alton T. Davis that ' while in the supermarket that evening he snatched the purse of a local woman from her shopping cart.

- Some of Glen's employees, along with a Good Samaritan, stopped Boyd from leaving the parking lot and held him until law enforcement arrived. The purse and its contents were recovered.

As part of the agreement, the original charge of unarmed robbery -- a 15-year felony -- was dropped and the larceny charge was added.

Huss also agreed to drop two felony no-account check charges pending against Boyd in 83rd District Court. Boyd faces up to 10 years in state prison on the larceny charge and will be ordered to pay $141 in restitution upon sentencing.

With the plea, Boyd waives his right to a trial and an appeal. He remains lodged in the Crawford County Jail on his original bond of $55,000. He is due to be sentenced early next month.

Granholm budget is a wondrous thing

MICHIGAN MAY be turning into the wonderful world of Oz.

A new Democratic governor plunked down a budget for the coming year which cut the heck out of almost everything and everybody in the state -- and hardly anyone complained real loud.

In general, new Governor Jennifer Granholm's spending plan for the 2003-04 fiscal year has been acclaimed as a stateswoman-like job.

By state law, the governor must submit a balanced budget. She did, resorting mainly to cuts in current spending levels to overcome an expected shortfall in revenues of almost $2 billion.

or so increased state revenues, but no new taxes, according to the governor.

Oh, there's about $600 million

"We have built a government that is lean but not mean," boasted Governor Granholm. "As long as I am your governor, this state will live within our means." Just for the record, Governor Granholm is the first Democratic Michigan governor in 12 years...and the only statewide full time elected administrative official who is a Democrat.

EVEN REPUBLICANS were generally complimentary.

Senator Shirley Johnson, chair of the appropriations committee in the state senate, complimented Governor Granholm for being "very creative," adding that "we are all members of this state and we have to work together."

Republican Marc Shulman, chair of the house appropriations committee, said: "This was a very, very good faith attempt to address our top priorities. It reflects a lot of Republican priorities, too.

Legislators Johnson and Shulman both are Republicans.

The Granholm budget seemed to float into existence like a butterfly, although it stings like a swarm of huge, irate hornets to state employees who are being asked to give up scheduled pay raises, higher education faced with yet another cut in state support, the fine arts, college students, cities, townships, counties, folks on Medicaid, adult education, users of state parks, everyone who drives a car...there's hardly a person who won't feel the Granholm cuts and bruises in one way or, another.

But where's the outrage? Where are the constituent groups hollering that the cuts are unfair and even murderous?

WHEN REPUBLICAN John Engler became governor in 1991, he proposed cutting state aid to the arts...and he became Attila the Hun with a broad axe attacking symphonies and museums. Mr. Engler cut hard on mental health aid...and he was accused of throwing patients callously into the streets.

Have times changed that much? Maybe so.

Perhaps it's because Ms. Granholm did a magnificent job traveling the state and pre-conditioning the public to the inevitablity of cutting back govemment.

Even so, the reality is that Democrats -- stereotyped as profligate spenders of public money -- are slashing and cutting public

Republicans -- stereotyped as tight fisted and hard hearted -are taking a more cautious waitand-see approach.

Have we arrived in the wondrous land of political Oz?

THE PLEDGE of "no new taxes" rings "no new taxes" rings a bit hollow, too.

The loudest early criticism of the Granholm budget concerned the four-cent a gallon tax increase in diesel fuel. That's a real, though modest, tax increase on truckers.

Taking away $2,000 of the $2,500 Michigan Merit Award scholarships may not be a new tax, but it means college freshmen will be paying higher tuition. What's that called?

What about almost doubling the state fee for renewing a driver's license, or higher fees to visit state parks. They're technically not tax increases, but they cost people more money, which is what taxes do.

Michigan's Jennifer Granholm is not the only governor to hide behind a pledge against new taxes. "No new taxes" was a popular platform for candidates in last year's campaigns.

And Michigan is not the only state facing burgeoning spending. and shrinking revenue supplies.

But sooner or later, state leaders from the governor on down -- 1 in Michigan and in state after state -- are nearing the point where they must face up to the b inevitable need to ask for more of

There is a limit to how far government can reduce spending, and still carry out its primary function, which is to tend to the legitimate needs of its citizens.

We may be almost there.

Having said that, I regret any member of the armed forces who has to go into harm's way with the chance of injury or death. But freedom and our way of life are not with-

I have had the honor of knowing many men who have served in the Army, Navy and Marines, and they were proud to serve. They served in Vietnam, Bosnia, Saudi Arabia, the Arctic Circle, and other areas. I am sure they would have preferred to be in another area where they could have enjoyed the comforts and enjoyment they were protecting for us, but they saluted and said "Yes, sir," and did their duty. I am proud to call many of them friends.

If it is necessary to go to war to rid Saddam of the weapons he possesses, many men and women will answer the call. They will do what needs to be done with honor, and with as few losses of life on both sides as possible.

I am proud of this country and of the men and women who defend her. We are all Americans. It's time we started acting like it. God bless America. Let's roll!

Millions of Iraqis await liberation by America

To the editor,

I cannot allow Cathy Lester's letter to your esteemed newspaper pass without a retort from a sensible American.

To recap, Ms. Lester believes we should, "...reach Arabs at the grass roots level." Is she referring to the maniac terrorist faction in the Middle East, or the peace loving mainstream Islamic community?

This week's murder suicide in Israel attests to the reasonableness of terrorists. These people are happy to strap bombs to their children and send them off to kill other children. These bombings are the actions of insane zealots, not a disenfranchised people who think we are treating them unfairly.

Terrorism is a weapon of the unreasonable. How do you begin a grass roots dialog with suicide bombers? How do you reason with a man who willingly pilots an airplane into a building? How do you reason with parents who are happy to strap bombs to their children? How many thousands of Americans must die in future terrorist attacks while we wait for these zealots to change their opinions of us?

No one in their right mind would opt for war over diplomacy, but we must recognize that there are times when diplomacy does not work and war is the only option. This is one of those occasions. These people have attacked us and have promised to attack us again in the future. We must stop these people and war is the only way.

There are millions of Iraqis waiting to be liberated from the Hussein dictatorship. If America does not go to their aid, who will?

Winston Churchill was one of the sanest men of the 20th century. Of course he would say, "Jaw-jaw is better than war-war." But when attacked, Churchill rallied his people to prevail against Nazi terrorism! Can we shirk our responsibilities and do less?

Current Iraq situation mirrors 1939

To the editor,

The tension in the world is high. A sovereign nation is controlled by a man seen as a tyrant from the outside and a hero from the inside.

That he has amassed an army and arsenal of weapons secretly cannot be disputed. That he has seized land before this belonging to other sovereign nations is undeniable. Still the world looks on hoping that the inevitable "next step" will not come.

The French and British both hope to avert war. The Russians turn a blind eye, thinking it could not effect them. There is no help from the United Nations because (the war) has not begun.

You see, this is the world my grandfather saw in the Spring of 1939, prior to the German invasion of Poland. They only difference is that Adolf Hitler took control of Germany in a more peaceful way than Iraqi leader, Saddam Hussein.

never served in the military, something I both regret and am thankful for at the same time. Men like Mr. Morse served in my stead, faithful to their country and to its call. They did not always personally believe in the cause and some were serving involuntarily, but they served.

They suffered the horror of war, and some experienced disgraceful mistreatment upon their return. I respectfully disagree, however, with Mr. Morse's opinion of the effectiveness and reasonability of the United States around the world.

More than 100,000 Americans lost their lives on D-Day alone. Had Adolf Hitler been stopped earlier, could this high price have been averted? Even these wars that by all accounts we "lost" (I believe we lose something any time we have to wage war), a message was still sent to the rest of the world that the United States opposes tyranny and supports democracy and was a force to be reckoned with.

We have become a generation of technology. Since the 1960s, the grim realities of war have been brought into our living rooms with dinner. I do not I am 33 years old and have naive enough to approach the at least I hope that to other with a cavalier attitude, the cost just another vendetta. has been counted.

I believe our leaders, especially our current president, are feeling a heavy burden to make the right decision. I also pray for peace, I dread the loss of a single

The pressure of potential mili-32 tary action has already helped? Iraq "find" misplaced documents '6 and destroy several missiles they 3 have "forgotten."

Our United States Armed Forces are among the top, if not, the best, trained military in the world and are much more of a. deterent on Middle East soil than at home.

The irony I find in all of this is that the United Nations was cre-. ated as a world body to prevent! so-called sovereign nations from attacking, or even threatening other nations.

Mr. Morse states in his editorial (letter to the editor published March 6) that "Iraq had no" involvement in the 9/11 tragedy,"," he later states that no link has yet in been found, Whether they'directly supported this event or not, they have been linked to ter->e rorism, which I believe is the believe that most Americans are cause we are struggling against... conflict with Saddam Hussein Americans, this is all more than I

On March 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hartwick Pines State Park will have a day of activities celebrating North America's oldest agricultural product, maple sugar! Visitors to the park will be able to:

- walk into the sugarbush to help tap a maple tree,
- observe the boil-down process which converts maple sap to maple syrup,
- learn about the history of maple sugar making in North America,

A mokuk was a birchbark container in which native people transported maple sugar.

Visitors will be able to taste maple syrup and sap, smell the aroma around an outside evaporator pan and welcome spring at this educational and fun event. Maple recipes will be available for those wishing to savor the sweetness of the day.

The Bible Speaks

Liberal Lies

Having rejected as their final authority - God, the Bible, the Declaration of Independence, and the U.S. Constitution, liberals have become their own god and their own standard for truth and morality. After gaining control of the media, education, Hollowood, and religious denominations, they have felt secure playing god from their ivory towers. Anyone who dares to challenge his or her person, position, or power is publicly branded as a dummy or liar. The one thing they cannot tolerate is ridicule. Ann Coulter's best selling book, "Slander - Liberal Lies About The American Right" is a luminous, clever work exposing the tactics and threats of liberalism in America today. Below are just a few edited quotes from her book.

Ann said, "Liberals don't believe there is such a thing as fact, or truth. Everything is a struggle for power between rival doctrines." "Liberals argue by creating semantic bedlam" "Liberals think that if they never admit to lying, there is no proof that they are lying." "The goal of modern propaganda is no longer to transform opinion but to arouse an active and mythical belief." "Like all propagandists, liberals create mythical enemies to justify their own viciousness and advance their agenda."

Ann said, "There is no bogeyman that strikes greater terror in the left than the apocryphal religious right." Ann used their own quotes showing they believe "the religious right is a very, very small minority, whose goal is to force people to do things, against their will, populated by an army of 'easily led' cornpones. They are 'fire-breathing,' sell out 'our children in the name of religion,' and enjoy 'narrowly defining the rights of others.' Also 'evil.'"

Ann said, "For twenty years, evangelical Christians had been portrayed as toothless hicks preaching for a nickel in the Ozarks. Then seamlessly, without remark on the shift in the Orwellian propaganda they were transformed into Howard Hughes money men, expertly manipulating the system." "These purported 'leaders, of the' religious right, are talismans, meant to inspire fear even as the public is trained to laugh at them reflexively." "They believe religious people are self-evidently fanatical. Religious values are hateful, homophobic, sexist, racist, and the rest of the liberal catechism unless they are kept in the closet." "Yet liberals behave as if they are under constant threat of extermination from the 'religious right." "The imaginary threat of the 'religious right' is important because it allows liberals to complain about their victimization by religious zealots."

In the last chapter of her book Ann said, "Liberals hate religion because politics is a religion substitute for liberals and they can't stand the competition." "The hatred is blinding, producing logical contradictions that would be impossible to sustain were it not for the central element faith plays in the left's new religion. The basic tenet of their faith is this: Maybe they were wrong on facts and policies, but they are good and conservatives are evil." Ann said, "You almost want to give it to them. It's all they have left."

But if or when we lose our faith and hope in our God, our Bible, our Declaration of Independence, and our U. S. Constitution, then all Americans will have nothing left but slavery and/or death. Pastor "B"

As a volunteer, you can make a difference

► Volunteer opportunities available at Mercy Hospital Grayling

Every day, volunteers enrich the lives of hundreds of patients at Mercy Hospital Grayling, Mercy Manor and Mercy Family Care office practices. A friendly smile, a warm greeting, and a gentle voice are the special touches that are remembered long after a patient's recovery has been completed.

Volunteers make a significant difference in many ways and the Mercy Hospital Grayling Auxiliary has a proud history of helping to provide compassionate patient care.

"Volunteers have been a vital part of the health care team here at Mercy since 1912," said Diane Nielsen, Coordinator of Volunteer Services. "Volunteers provide countless hours of service, assisting staff, patients, and visitors with caring respect."

Meaningful volunteer opportunities are now available at Mercy Hospital facilities for those interested in becoming a part of an active, involved group.

"You may be interested in sharing your time, energy, or expertise," said Nielsen. "Volunteering has many benefits, including giving back to the community, strengthening the mission of Mercy, making a real difference in the lives of others, building lasting friendships, enjoying outside activities, and giving to others. Most of all, it's fun."

Volunteering as little as just four hours a week can make a big difference in a patient's life, as well as your own, said Nielsen.

"You probably have all the skills necessary to become a volunteer. All it takes is a little compassion, a touch of friendship, and a small dose of laughter," said Nielsen.

Mercy volunteers, whether in direct patient interaction or working behind the scenes, receive specialized training in the tasks they perform.

For more information on becoming a Mercy volunteer, call Diane Nielsen at (989) 348-0594 or visit the hospital's web site: mercygrayling.munson-healthcare.org on the Internet.

Perhaps you are hiking in the woods. You come onto a mountain stream where cool, clear water bubbles over pebbles and stones. The water is flowing toward...well, just where is the destination? At the end of its journey, this playful little stream could have become a mighty river. "But to me it's just a little stream," you say.

A mighty river is created from many little streams. With each joining tributary, meandering streams become part of a more powerful force moving with purpose toward their goal. That river might power homes or carry goods to another destination. Like the little stream, each of us is capable of becoming part of a more powerful influence for good, for God's House is made up of many souls joining to form a spiritual river which can flow through the community, the state, the nation, and ultimately, the world. We read in John 7:38 where our Lord declares... "He who believes in me, as the scripture has said, 'Out of his heart shall flow rivers of living

Won't you let God's House be your destination this Sabbath?

In Memory of Scott Stade March 14, 2002

God looked around his garden, Scott and saw an empty place, He then looked upon this earth and saw your tired face.

He put his arms around you and lifted you to rest, God's garden must be beautiful, He only takes the best.

"He knew you were suffering, He knew you were in pain.

He knew you would never get well on earth again. He knew the road was getting tough and the hills were hard to 'climb.

iii So He closed your weary eye-'lids and whispered "Peace be thine."

It broke our hearts to lose you Scott but you didn't go alone, for part of us went with you the day God called you home!

Forever in our hearts We miss you so much, Mom, Darryl and Todd

Name 10 people you wouldn't miss if a victim of terrorism

To the editor,

For you people who think we Americans are too harsh with the terrorists and their friends who support and arm them, perhaps you should decide where your true values lie -- with your family, your friends, your country or with some political agenda of church or state.

Make a list of your family members or friends who you wouldn't miss or mourn if they were killed or maimed (just 10 names) and then send each of them a copy just to show your resolve in your cause.

America: What a great country

To the editor,

I love America and here's

A country that would let anyone say what he or she wants anytime!

A public assembly for any

A right to pray!

A freedom of choice! A diversity of beliefs!

A choice of life! A vote for any person and it really does count! A person's right to disagree! A people so diverse as to be the fiber of our great nation.

Just look skyward at our (first) great flag of blue, red and white, with 13 bars and the first 13 states in stars, and wonder after 200 years what better reason to look forward to a nation that looks to itself for rewards and never doubts in its people's individual rights.

I love America and am willing to die for our freedoms as one nation under God!

Hospital offers help to incontinence sufferers

control, or incontinence, is a condition that affects approximately 13 million Americans - men and women, young and old - every

Mercy Hospital Grayling Rehabilitation has launched a new urinary incontinence program to help patients living with this condition.

Incontinence is a symptom that can have a wide variety of causes, including bladder infection, obesity, pregnancy, childbirth, weak pelvic floor muscle, chronic illness or cough, constipation, medications, neuromuscular disorders, stress, smoking, caffeine, diet, and hormonal changes.

The first and most difficult step for many people is to discuss your problem with a health care professional. "This is a problem that a lot of people don't like to talk about," said Leanne Sterrett, Occupational Therapist, who weak pelvic floor muscles.

Involuntary loss of bladder heads up the program at Mercy Hospital Grayling. "It's been shown that people sometimes live with this condition for seven years before discussing it with their physician."

> A patient needs a thorough examination from their physician or health care provider who is knowledgeable about evaluating and treating incontinence. That will determine if a medical condition is causing the loss of bladder control. Then they will be ready for a referral to the hospital's Rehabilitation Department for an evaluation and an individualized treatment program developed by Sterrett.

> There are two major types of urinary incontinence that can benefit from therapy. Stress incontinence is a sudden, involuntary loss of urine when you exercise or move in a certain way. Leakage is often caused by that occurs as soon as you get the urge to use the bathroom. This sensation can be overwhelming and your bladder muscle contracts at the wrong time.

"We stress patient education about the bladder and diet," said Sterrett. "But treatment can also include pelvic floor muscle strengthening, normal emptying techniques, bladder retraining, time schedule for urination, and use of EMG/biofeedback and electrical stimulation of the pelvic floor muscles."

Therapy programs have helped many people successfully decrease or eliminate their problem of incontinence. Treatment typically involves a total of six of eight sessions held every week or

"Patients need to know that they can do something about incontinence - that you do not have to just learn to live with it,"

Urge incontinence is leakage said Sterrett. "Taking the first step can put them on the path to regaining bladder control."

Powered wheelchairs available

The Senior Wheels USA Program makes available power (electric) wheelchairs to senior citizens, age 65 years and older. and the permanently disabled at no cost to the recipient, if they qualify.

The power wheelchairs are provided to those who cannot walk and cannot self-propel a manual wheelchair, and who meet the additional guidelines of the program. No deposit is required.

If the patient's need is for use in the home, call 1-800-246-6010 for more information to see if they qualify.

The Senior Wheels USA Program's main purpose and goal is to develop public awareness that there are assistance options that allow senior citizens (as well as the permanently disabled) to remain independent in their own homes. Without this awareness and assistance, the family may prematurely choose a nursing home, or make an unnecessary retail purchase on power mobility equipment.

If the patient does not meet all the requirements of the program, Senior Wheels USA may still be able to help them through its donation program, made available when people donate power wheelchairs they no longer need.

Kirtland announces date for 10th Annual Warbler Festival

ROSCOMMON - The 10th annual Kirtland's Warbler Festival, a celebration of the comeback from near extinction by one of the world's rarest birds, has been set for May 17 at the college that stands as the songbird's namesake.

The day-long event on the beautiful campus of Kirtland Community College - in the heart of the jack pine forest the bird calls home from May to September – features a variety of activities, including two guided tours that give birders a rare glimpse of the warbler.

The festival attracts thousands annually. Last year, despite a cold day that began with snow flurries, nearly 2,000 people attended from as far away as Brazil and Canada and from 10

"We're delighted that the Warbler Festival is being attending by serious birders from all across the country," said Jim Enger, Kirtland's marketing director and the chairman of the festival's organizing committee. "It's developing a reputation as one of the premier birding and nature events in the country, and it's giving our school the kind of national recognition that is so rare for a community college."

Last year, the festival began with the circling of a bald eagle hovering majestically over a pond near a group where about 40 birders had gathered for the 7 a.m. trek to the forest to see the Ext. 266 or visit the website at:

Local bottled water wins bronze medal at competition

by Susan Warrington Staff Writer

Avita Artesian Spring Water of Grayling won a bronze medal at the Thirteenth Annual Berkeley Springs International Water Tasting held at Berkeley Springs, West Virginia, in February.

The water tasting contest involved more than 100 waters from across the country and around the globe. Watermaster Arthur von Wiesenberger, a noted expert from Santa Barbara California directed the challenge of evaluating a product where eral content, has a slightly alkatastelessness is the most sought after quality. This "granddaddy of water tastings" was divided into municipal water, non-carbonated bottled water and purified drinking water competitions.

Representatives from nine organizations around the world picked Avita as the bronze medal winner in the non-carbonated bottled water class. Avita with a total of 463 points, missed winning the gold medal by only four points.

The water is very low in min-line pH of 7.1 and was judged to have exceptional appearance and great taste.

Avita is bottled at a 200 acre private estate totally surrounded by the AuSable State Forest located between Roscommon and Grayling. Terry Maurer, of Grayling, is the owner and president of Avita.

Avita can be purchased at various locations throughout the county. It is also available throughout lower Michigan, and in Chicago, Washington D.C., New Jersey and California.

Seventy-five students at Owners Association (ARSPOA). The success of this project hinged on the exceptional dedication and work of GMS teacher,

The contest encouraged participants to write on any of several subject areas: the influence of environmental factors on the AuSable River, the river water quality, the river as a multi-recreational resource, the river's affects on the local economy, or the history and future of our wonderful river resource.

The ARSPOA Board of Directors considered the essays outstanding and far beyond their expectations for the depth of thought, knowledge, research, consideration, and writing abilities of these eighth graders. Several of the essays will be published in the ARSPOA newsletter sent to hundreds of local property owners.

The ARSPOA Board of Directors awarded over $600 in prizes and acknowledgements to the participants in the contest. The three top prize winners were Scot Olson, Doug Slater, and Mike Cole, respectively. They received $100, $75 and $50 savings bonds as prizes. Another top 12 writers received awards of $10 each, and the remaining students each received $5.

All students received a personalized certificate acknowledging their participation and their efforts.

The ARSPOA will be awarding a commemorative plaque to Grayling Middle School to acknowledge the work that Mesack and her students have done to understand and protect the AuSable River. ARSPOA Board hopes the contest will continue as an annual

Three bills to help reduce prescription drug prices for all

Building on the strong bipartisan support shown in the U.S. Senate for prescription drug reform last summer, U.S. Senator Debbie Stabenow (D-MI) and other senators reintroduced legislation that makes a three-pronged attack on the rising drug prices faced by all Americans.

"The 78-21 vote recorded in the Senate on July 31 made clear that my colleagues on both sides of the aisle recognize the crisis faced by seniors, businesses and other consumers in trying to deal with skyrocketing prescription drug prices," Stabenow said. "We are reintroducing the key portions of that legislation in the belief that it once again will be passed in the Senate and that it will be taken up for consideration in the U.S. House."

Stabenow's bill, the "Rx Flexibility for States Act" one of three rolled out March 5 at a press event in the U.S. Capitol, is a reprise of her 2002 legislative language approved by the Senate last year. The bill would permit states to extend Medicaid rebates and discounts for prescription drugs to non-Medicaid eligible persons.

A second piece of legislation would allow U.S. residents to import up to a 90-day supply of prescription drugs from Canada for their own use, and it would allow U.S.-licensed pharmacists and drug wholesalers to import FDA-approved drugs from Canada for resale.

The third bill would streamline the process of bringing lower-priced generic drugs to market by removing some of the tools used by brand-name manufacturers to block or stall the market appearance of a generic brand.

THE POWER SPOT

News from Grayling Elementary & AuSable Primary Schools

Grayling Middle School seventh grade students from the Nama/Packard/Hamlin team presented an oral report on famous black people, in honor of Black History month, to Mrs. Laurie Canfield's third and all fourth and fifth grade classes at Grayling Elementary School.

Mrs. Lori Fox and Mrs. Suzanne Williams 2/3 multi-age class had another tag reward party. Students who removed less than 50 tags in the marking period were rewarded with lunch, supplied by their teachers, and a sledding party out on the big hill on the playground.

Mrs. Lori Patterson/Mrs. Kathee Sheldon's first grade class had a guest speaker for Dental Health month, Mrs. Ann Malm brought in large models of teeth and a big toothbrush to demonstrate the proper way to brush teeth. The students all brushed their own teeth, then chewed a disclosing tablet to show the spots missed in brushing. The students then brushed their teeth again to make sure they brushed thoroughly.

Along with learning proper brushing, the class did an experiment with eggs in glasses of soda, which showed how food friend. and drinks could stain teeth or cause cavities.

AuSable Primary handed out Box Tops for Education coloring pages to be taken home and colored. Students who brought back their page with two box tops received a prize from Mrs. Mick. Six hundred forty-seven box tops were turned in.

March is National Reading Month and each classroom is celebrating with a challenge, The theme for the month at AP is Pioneers. Come in and see the covered wagon in the lobby and look for the calendar packed with pioneer theme activities.

Armed Forces Emergency Services and Camp Grayling

Did you know that the Red Cross has trained volunteers at Camp Grayling to relay family emergency messages? Did you know you could assist as a Red Cross volunteer caseworker?

Providing the communications link between service members and their families during family emergencies is the second required service of the American Red Cross. In 1905 the United States Congress identified the American Red Cross as the responsible agency to handle family emergency communications, even though the Red Cross is not a government agency and receives no funds to implement this pro-

Local Red Cross volunteer Ralph Krolczyck is there to help when an Armed Forces service member has a family emergency. As a trained caseworker, Ralph is ready to take calls that will be forwarded to the service person.

"It is hard to deal with the fact that a family member will be separated for a long time, even when 'all is well', but when there is a serious family emergency, having the Red Cross available to assist makes managing the emergency a lot easier. I am pleased to help out in a small way under such circumstances", stated Ralph.

As a volunteer caseworker, Ralph and his fellow volunteers receive calls from military families needing help. Often, it is due to a death in a family or other serious illness. Ralph takes the information related to the emergency, and gathers contact information about the service member. Next, he must verify the information given before the message is forwarded through the military. This verification step is invaluable to the military. The message is delivered to the service member's commanding officer, which will determine if the service member can be released to go home for the emergency.

The caseload for such messages has increased by 25% since July 2002, as the troop deployments have risen.

During the summer months when Camp Grayling is bustling with training troops, the Red Cross has an office at Camp Grayling to process messages for the National Guard troops. The caseworker volunteers have an 'efficiency apartment' along with an office. Coverage is 24 hours a day while troops are in training.

A core of nine area volunteers provides this service during the summer. "Our local volunteers have gotten much more involved at Camp Grayling. The caseworkers enjoy helping our National Guard members by taking these messages. Some days are very busy all day, and then other times are very quiet. There is no way to anticipate the workload since we are responding to external circumstances," explains Krolczyck: Last summer over 120 messages were processed at Camp Grayling. If you would like to become an Armed Forces caseworker, please contact the Red Cross at 732-7161 or 800 691-6059.

Senate says no to use of 900 numbers; bill now goes to State House

LANSING - 36th District State Sen. Tony Stamas (R-Midland) said a bill he sponsored which would prohibit state government agencies and departments from using fee telephone numbers to charge callers who want to access public information, passed the full Senate with a unanimous vote.

Some state agencies, including the Department of Consumer and Industry Services, have been charging as much as $1.50 per minute to access public information.

"Public information should be free of charge to hard-working, tax-paying citizens," Stamas said. "I am happy my colleagues unanimously agreed that the state should no longer collect this type if income from Michigan's residents."

Senate Bill 180 will now go to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Overtime loss ends Grayling's season

► Grayling falls to Roscommon 66-63 in first round of play-offs

by Caleb Casey Staff Writer

The GHS varsity boys basketball team lost to Roscommon 66-63 in overtime last Monday in a District Tournament game at Cheboygan High School, ending Grayling's season.

The Vikings led the Bucks 29-19 at halftime, but Roscommon rallied for a 22-10 third quarter. Grayling had a chance to win the game in regulation, but missed the last shot of the fourth quarter, leaving the contest locked in a 59-59 tie. In overtime, the Vikings had opportunities down the stretch but couldn't convert.

It was a back-and-forth game all the way through.

Grayling scored the first two baskets of the game – a shot inside by Adam Kaiser and a lay-up by Gibson Tobin – to lead 4-0 early in the first quarter. A 7-0 run by Roscommon gave the Bucks a 7-4 advantage. A drive by Kaiser and a jump shot by Roy Czapek put the Vikings up by one.

The Bucks scored the last five points of the first quarter to lead 12-8 going into the second period. The Vikings had trouble finishing shots for much of the first eight minutes of play.

GHS opened the second quarter with an 8-0 run, which included drives by Tobin and Kaiser, a shot inside by Roger Alvarez, and a jumper by Tobin. Roscommon broke its three-minute scoring drought with a pair of free throws. A jumper by Andy Strohpaul and a triple by Travis Helsel put Grayling up 21-14.

With a triple by Alvarez, a jumper by Strohpaul, and free throws by Strohpaul and Tobin, Grayling led 29-19 at halftime.

The Bucks outscored Grayling 22-10 in the third period. Roscommon got its perimeter shooting game going, and it accounted for four three-pointers in the quarter.

Grayling scored its 10 third quarter points on two jumpers by Czapek and free throws by Kaiser, Joe Lange, and Tobin.

A put-back by Roscommon gave the Bucks a four-point lead. A put-back by Tobin cut it back to two. Two jumpers by the Bucks put RHS ahead by six, 47-41. A lay-up by Tobin pulled GHS back within four

CHIROPRACTOR-WHEN SPORTS DON'T WORK

Are you concerned about keeping your body in good condition? You should be, especially if your job does not include a lot of physical activity.

You may have a favorite sport that helps you fill this need. But if you can't play often enough, or if the sport doesn't give you enough of a workout to maintain good muscle tone, it should be supplemented with exercise. Take golf, for example. In days of yore, golfers used to walk the full 18 holes. Now, many golfers "ride and play," using

Brandon Pratt 6th Place, State GHS wrestler places State Brandon Pratt earns 26th State Finals medal for Grayling HS

GHS wrestler Brandon Pratt (171) brought home Grayling High School's 26th state wrestling medal by finishing 6th in his weight class at the State Wrestling Finals at the Palace of Auburn Hills this past weekend.

Pratt was one of two GHS wrestlers to qualify for the State Finals this year. Dusty Partello (152), a junior, was the other.

Michigan's state wrestling meet is the largest high school wrestling championships in the nation. Over 40,000 fans attended this year's finals.

In his first match of the tournament, Pratt faced Jeff O'Mara of Goodrich, son of former GHS wrestler Dennis O'Mara. (O'Mara won the match by decision, 4-2, and went on to place 2nd.)

Pratt went on to place 6th in the 171-pound weight class. He finished the season with a 44-11 overall win/loss record.

Partello came down with the flu on the first day of the competition and did not place high enough to win a state medal.

"Dusty showed a lot of courage and gave it his very best to compete, but couldn't give 100 percent," said Don Ferguson, GHS wrestling coach. "Dusty is a junior this year, so he will have another chance at the title next year."

"Both Brandon and Dusty represented Grayling with outstanding sportsmanship and showed a lot of class," Coach Ferguson said. "You will see a lot more of these two fine athletes next year."

Ferguson said the wrestling team got good support from the parents, school administrators, teachers, and students this year. He also acknowledged donations made by Holiday Inn (luncheon), Glen's Market (fruit baskets), and 7-11 (water).

The Bucks went to the line for a one-and-one free throw chance, and missed. Helsel came down with the rebound. Grayling turned the ball over with about a minute left in the fourth quarter.

Grayling knocked the ball loose and Lange saved the ball from going out of bounds, getting it in to Kaiser. Kaiser dished to Tobin, and Roscommon fouled to stop the clock. With 30 seconds left, Tobin hit one of two free throws. Grayling led 59-57.

LOCAL ICE FISHERMAN HAS SUCCESSFUL MORNING

Rick Brown of Grayling recently caught this 26-inch, seven-pound rainbow trout while ice fishing on Higgins Lake. "It was Sunday morning, around 7 a.m., and the fight was on. She ran about 50 feet in one foot of water. The wind was blowing hard. The rainbow lasted about 15 minutes. Finally, after the second time trying to bring her in the hole, I reached down - with hands in water - to pull her to the ice," Brown said. "Another cold, great morning on Higgins Lake."

Caution urged while using space heaters

With a few more weeks of winter remaining and temperatures averaging below normal, Consumers Energy reminds everyone who uses supplemental heating to do so safely.

Supplemental heaters, or space heaters, are typically electric or kerosene fueled. Most space heaters are designed to heat a single room or the equivalent area. Safe use of space heaters requires a good portion of common sense and a thorough understanding of the manufacturer's instructions.

Consumers Energy offers the following space heater safety

• When purchasing an electric space heater, make sure it has the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) label and always read and follow the manufacturer's instructions.

- Do not use an extension cord or defeat the ground prong of electric space heaters. Some extension cords cannot handle the amount of electricity needed to operate a space heater, and could cause a fire. The ground prong helps prevent electric shock.
- Keep the heater away from furniture, walls, draperies or anything flammable.
- Keep electric heaters away from water and never touch the heater when you're wet.
- Always unplug the heater before you go to bed or leave home.
- Make sure automatic shutoff switches are functioning - to turn off a heater if it tips over.

Never substitute gasoline.

Never use an outdoor space heater in an enclosed area. Improper use of a fueled space heater can lead to carbon monoxide poisoning or death.

Home Heating Credit forms available

This year's Home Heating Credit forms are available now at Consumers Energy's bill payment offices. Low-income Michigan residents can get up to $150 or more for their winter energy bills through the Home Heating Credit program.

Residents can also get the forms at public libraries or by calling the utility's toll-free 1-800-477-5050. number, They're also available from the Department of Michigan Treasury by calling 1-800-367-

The Department of Treasury offers help in filling out the forms at 1-800-487-7000. (The form is MI-1040CR-7.) A number of volunteer sites also are available for low-income residents who need help filling out? Home Heating Credit forms and income tax forms.

Residents can get information about the nearest volunteer site, by calling Consumers Energy's toll-free number.

An insert in Consumers Energy's February bills provide? details about the Home Heating? Credit and how to file for it. Last year, 298,350 Michigan residents got $77.4 million in aid through the program, which is funded by the federal Low-Energy 3 Home Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

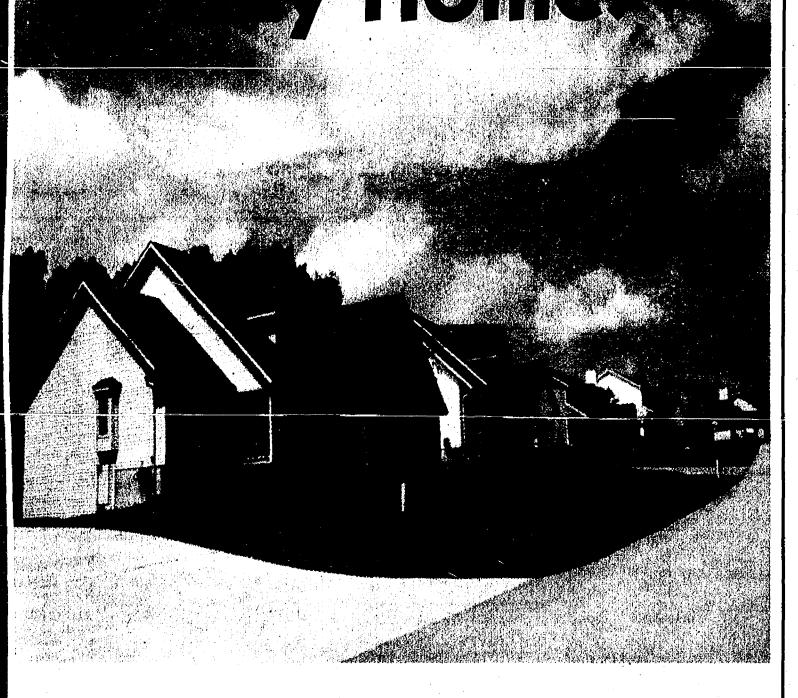

The Home Heating Credit? isn't a tax credit, so residents can apply immediately. The credit is based on how much low-incomed residents spent on home heating? from November 1, 2001 through October 31, 2002. The credit can be applied to all heating costs including propane and purchased firewood. The deadline to file is September 30, 2003.

Disadvantaged businesses offered MDOT workshops

Judge upholds verdict

► Juror moves, takes bus ride to Grayling to fulfill his civic duty

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

In the 24 years that public defender James Deamud has been on the job, he said he has never seen a case such as this.

Deamud, representing convicted armed robber Roger Bruce Matt who was present in the courtroom, presented a motion in 46th Circuit Trial Court on March 6 to have the February 20 guilty verdict against his client thrown out, or vacated, after it was discovered one of the jurors no longer lives in Crawford County.

Matt was found guilty on four felony counts, including armed robbery for holding up a clerk at the Admiral gas station on the I-75 Business Loop in Grayling on September 3. Michigan State Troopers caught up with him in Kalkaska County after he fled from Grayling on a motorcycle he had hidden near the freeway.

Judge Dennis F. Murphy listened to statements regarding juror Thomas T. Lobsinger from both Deamud and Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss. Both agreed Lobsinger made a good juror and showed no prejudice toward Matt during juror questioning, but they never asked him if he still lived in the county.

Lobsinger's change of residency was not realized until after the guilty verdict was rendered, jurors were collecting their fees and mileage from the County Clerk's office, and the courthouse had been cleared.

When Lobsinger handed the clerk his bus ticket from the Detroit area community of Madison Heights, the prosecutor and attorney were notified. Deamud filed his motion to vacate within a few days of the trial.

Judge Murphy reviewed Michigan law and case law of similar circumstances and took a very close look at the situation.

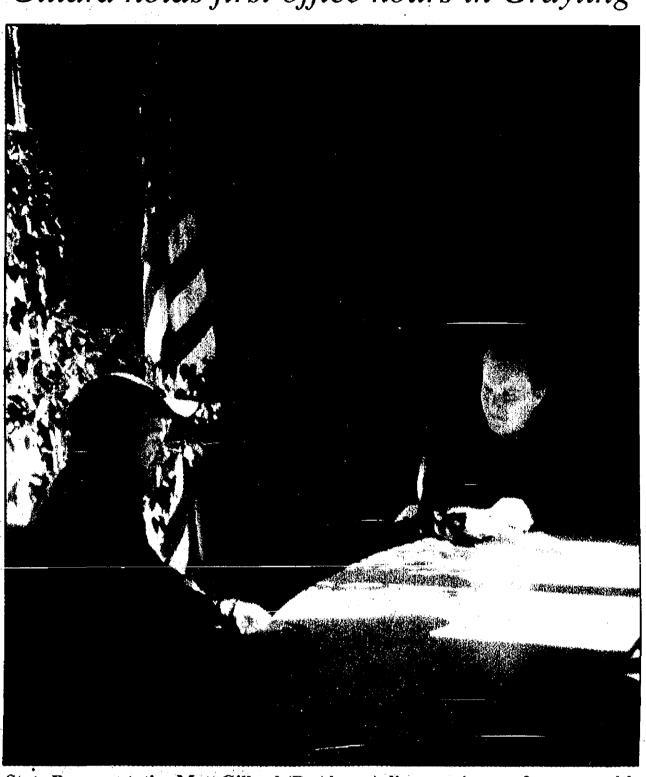

Lobsinger lived in Grayling at the time he received and completed his juror questionnaire. He signed it on August 7, 2002. In January, 2003 he was notified by forwarded mail that he had been selected for jury duty in February. Judge Murphy said sometimes questionnaires are filled out a year in advance of jury selection, so things can change during that time.

"The attorneys believed we were dealing with a resident of the county," Judge Murphy said. He added that it is not customary to ask potential jurors if they are still a resident of the county or if they have a new address.

"Apparently, Mr. Lobsinger moved to Madison Heights between August 7, 2002 and the trial dates of February 19 and 20, 2003," said Judge Murphy, "His.

D.A.R.E. Celebrity Servers raise over $1,400

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

It was a busy evening at the Big Boy restaurant in Grayling on March 5 as local "Celebrity Servers" waited tables to earn tips to benefit the Crawford County D.A.R.E. program in local schools.

Members of the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, along with local school officials and folks from the media donned aprons, sturdy shoes and D.A.R.E. T-shirts, then waited on an array of citizens who came to show their support.

Waiting tables that night was Sheriff Kirk Wakefield, who earned the largest single tip of $60 from a table of women who insisted he dance for the money. He obliged. Undersheriff Shawn Krayes, School Liaison Deputy Bill Bonkowski, and D.A.R.E. Coordinator Deputy Randy Herman rounded out the staff for the Sheriff's office.

"We had a lot of fun," said Undersheriff Krayes. "We raised more than we thought we would and we were all impressed with the high school Continued on Page 3A

The AuSable Quilt Guild donated a copy of the children's book The Quiltmakers Gift to the library. The story is about a quilter who makes quilts for the needy and her interactions with

Thirty-nine different quilt blocks are shown in the book and the guild decided to make a quilt containing all of the blocks and then donate the quilt to the Crawford County Devereaux Memorial Library.

Sue Gilpin of Johannesburg, and Carla Aderente of Ann Arbor, provided 12 inch patterns for each of the blocks. Each guild member selected at least one block to make.

The blocks were then assembled by Gilpin and Aderente, with 20 blocks on each side of the quilt. The fortieth block is the logo of the guild. When they were finished, Mary White and Kathy Burkitt, owners of In The Woods Quilting, in Grayling did the quilting.

The blocks were made in the same colors as shown in the book so that when the book is read during story hour, children will be able to identify the block on the quilt.

The quilt is hanging in the children's area of the library and the book will become one of the collection of books used in story Continued on Page 2A

Library Director Edward Elsner holds the book The Quiltmakers Gift donated by the AuSable Quilt Guild. The quilt on the wall, featuring all of the blocks shown in the book, was also donated by the guild. Teenager told to tow the line

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

After seven months in the county jail, a 17-year old who faced up to 10 years in state prison for breaking into a Grayling Township home, was set free last week.

Casey Nelson Darling pled guilty in February to breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny in a plea agreement with Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss. Seven other serious charges stemming from a crime spree last year were dismissed in exchange for his plea.

At his sentencing before Judge Dennis F. Murphy on March 6 in 46th Circuit Trial Court, Darling was given credit for 215 days already served, with the remainder of jail time held in abeyance. Huss stated he did not support Darling leaving jail before serving a full year.

Darling's court appointed attorney, James Deamud, said his client has gone through a lot of changes since being jailed. "I watched his self esteem come up... he realizes he has made a shambles of his young life," Deamud said. The attorney told the court what Darling really needs is to "get out of this community" and get away from his past associations.

"You're very lucky to have against you only a single charge of breaking and entering," Judge Murphy told Darling.

Huss said there were six to eight additional incidents he could have charged against Darling, but the paperwork would be too voluminous.

"Well, maybe you shouldn't be dismissing all of these charges," commented Judge Murphy to Huss. A Department of Corrections pre-sentencing report recommended a stiffer sentence for the teenager, but Darling's older sister offered to take him into her home and get him on the right track.

"I was lonely, depressed, confused, suicidal and drug addicted at the time (of the crimes)," Darling explained to Judge Murphy. "I plan to live with my sister in Ionia when I get out."

Deamud stated he found his client did not receive services due him and that the Crawford AuSable School District "pulled funding" for his special needs while at the Second Chance school. Deamud said Darling has plans to continue his education which ended formally in the 7th grade and will be getting a job when he relocates.

Judge Murphy appeared reluctant to turn the teenager back out into the community, but remarked that Deamud and Huss knew more about Darling and his case, therefore would trust their judgement in the matter.

Four taken to Mercy after two vehicles collide on icy, snowy road

Heavy snow the day before, followed by bitter temperatures and howling winds created drifted and icy conditions on local secondary roads the evening of March 9, resulting in a number of

The most serious accident this past weekend involved two local women drivers and their passengers, whose vehicles collided at about 7:15 p.m. on Sherman Road in Maple Forest Township.

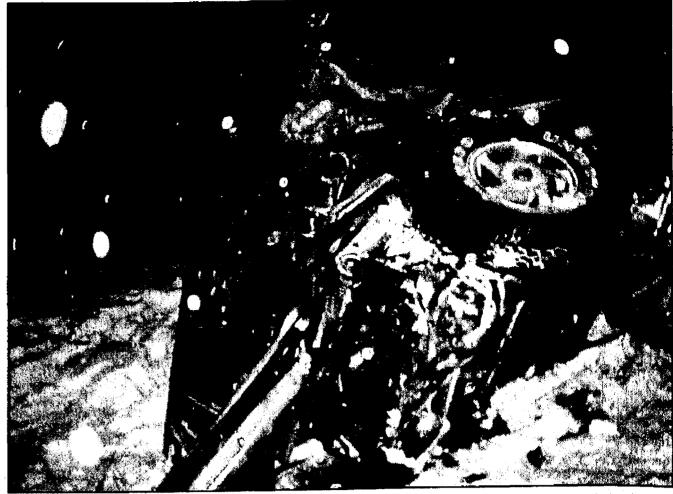

Cynthia Annette Britten, age-46 of Grayling, told Crawford County Sheriff's Deputy John McDonald she was driving south on Sherman Road, near West Marker Road and lost control of her car on the snow and ice, then slid sideways and nearly head-on into the path of a Ford Explorer driven by 56-year old Connie Swander, of Grayling, who was approaching northbound.

After being struck by Britten's car, Swander's SUV slid sideways and rolled onto its side in the ditch. Luckily, no one sustained life-threatening injuries.

Frederic Township Fire and Rescue personnel responded to the scene and used the Jaws of Life to help gain access to Swander and her granddaughter, eight-year old Josie Swander, as well as Britten's passenger, 34year old Rebecca Sue Kemper of Frederic.

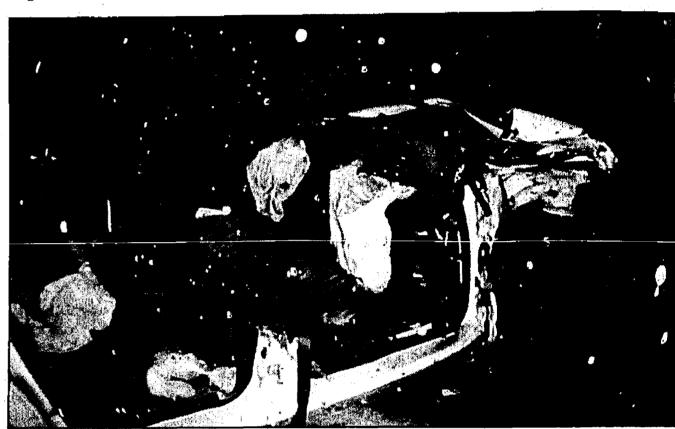

A Mobile Medical Response (MMR) ambulance and crew also responded to help Frederic transport all four accident victims to Mercy Hospital in Grayling, where all but Swander were reported to have been treated and

Murphy called Lobsinger's actions "laudable, almost supercivic duty." He said no one would expect a juror to show up, but Lobsinger did the "exact opposite" of what most jurors would do in the same situation. Many people try to find any excuse to get out of jury duty. Judge Murphy also considered the fact that there were 13 jurors in all -- including an alternate -who sat through the trial and that it took those 12 people only 18 minutes to render their unanimous verdict. "Apparently, the jurors found the case cut and dry, but what must be done about this now?"

After considering all the facts

and reviewing the law, Judge Murphy found Lobsinger fit all criteria of a proper juror with the exception of his residency, which he described as "an innocent mistake," but with no proof of any prejudice.

He added that the subject of residency should have come up during the selection process, if

Arsonist receives jail time, lengthy probation

by Chervil Ruley Staff Writer

A Frederic Township man, who pled guilty last month to a reduced charge of attempted arson, was sentenced March 6 to nine months in the Crawford County Jail and four years proba-

Gerald Arthur Mayhew admitted to 46th Circuit Trial Court Judge Dennis F. Murphy that he tried to set fire to an old ice manufacturing plant in Frederic Township last August 16. "I've learned from my mistakes and I will do anything it takes to get out of jail, your honor," Mayhew

"So far, you have only burned vacant buildings," stated Judge Murphy to Mayhew. "Why do you keep burning things?" he

"I don't know, your honor," Mayhew replied. "I've been burning things since I was a little kid. I hope I don't do it again."

Since being incarcerated more than six months ago, Mayhew has been receiving counseling for his mental health needs. He has 66 more days to serve to fulfill his jail time.

Judge Murphy and Prosecutor John Huss agreed Mayhew, who receives Social Security Disability pay and went as far as the ninth grade in school, would not be "cured" of his problems by placing him in jail or prison for an extended period of time. They agreed by placing him on lengthy probation, he would have to check in periodically with a probation officer who could monitor his progress with the local mental health agency. "I am compelled by law to provide treatment," said Judge Murphy. "If Mr. Mayhew violates his probation, he faces five years in prison."

As part of his sentencing, Mayhew was ordered to perform community service released from jail. Another stipulation added allows enforcement to detain Mayhew for 72 hours if he is suspected on violating his probation.

Purse snatcher pleads guilty to lesser charge

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

In a plea agreement with Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss, William Benjamin Boyd pled guilty March 3 to a charge of larceny to person stemming from an incident on December 4 at Glen's Family Market.

Under oath, 20-year old Boyd told 46th Circuit Trial Court Chief Judge Alton T. Davis that ' while in the supermarket that evening he snatched the purse of a local woman from her shopping cart.

- Some of Glen's employees, along with a Good Samaritan, stopped Boyd from leaving the parking lot and held him until law enforcement arrived. The purse and its contents were recovered.

As part of the agreement, the original charge of unarmed robbery -- a 15-year felony -- was dropped and the larceny charge was added.

Huss also agreed to drop two felony no-account check charges pending against Boyd in 83rd District Court. Boyd faces up to 10 years in state prison on the larceny charge and will be ordered to pay $141 in restitution upon sentencing.

With the plea, Boyd waives his right to a trial and an appeal. He remains lodged in the Crawford County Jail on his original bond of $55,000. He is due to be sentenced early next month.

Granholm budget is a wondrous thing

MICHIGAN MAY be turning into the wonderful world of Oz.

A new Democratic governor plunked down a budget for the coming year which cut the heck out of almost everything and everybody in the state -- and hardly anyone complained real loud.

In general, new Governor Jennifer Granholm's spending plan for the 2003-04 fiscal year has been acclaimed as a stateswoman-like job.

By state law, the governor must submit a balanced budget. She did, resorting mainly to cuts in current spending levels to overcome an expected shortfall in revenues of almost $2 billion.

Oh, there's about $600 million or so increased state revenues, but no new taxes, according to the governor.

"We have built a government that is lean but not mean," boasted Governor Granholm. "As long as I am your governor, this state will live within our means."

Just for the record, Governor Granholm is the first Democratic Michigan governor in 12 years...and the only statewide full time elected administrative official who is a Democrat.

EVEN REPUBLICANS were generally complimentary.

Senator Shirley Johnson, chair of the appropriations committee in the state senate, complimented Governor Granholm for being "very creative," adding that "we are all members of this state and we have to work together."

Republican Marc Shulman, chair of the house appropriations committee, said: "This was a very, very good faith attempt to address our top priorities. It reflects a lot of Republican priorities, too.

Legislators Johnson and Shulman both are Republicans.

The Granholm budget seemed to float into existence like a butterfly, although it stings like a swarm of huge, irate hornets to state employees who are being asked to give up scheduled pay raises, higher education faced with yet another cut in state support, the fine arts, college students, cities, townships, counties, folks on Medicaid, adult education, users of state parks, everyone who drives a car...there's hardly a person who won't feel the Granholm cuts and bruises in one way or, another.

But where's the outrage? Where are the constituent groups hollering that the cuts are unfair and even murderous?

WHEN REPUBLICAN John Engler became governor in 1991, he proposed cutting state aid to the arts...and he became Attila the Hun with a broad axe attacking symphonies and museums. Mr. Engler cut hard on mental health aid...and he was accused of throwing patients callously into the streets.

Have times changed that much? Maybe so.

Perhaps it's because Ms. Granholm did a magnificent job traveling the state and pre-conditioning the public to the inevitablity of cutting back govemment.

Even so, the reality is that Democrats -- stereotyped as profligate spenders of public money -- are slashing and cutting public

Republicans -- stereotyped as tight fisted and hard hearted -are taking a more cautious waitand-see approach.

Have we arrived in the wondrous land of political Oz?

THE PLEDGE of "no new taxes" rings "no new taxes" rings a bit hollow, too.

The loudest early criticism of the Granholm budget concerned the four-cent a gallon tax increase in diesel fuel. That's a real, though modest, tax increase on truckers.

Taking away $2,000 of the $2,500 Michigan Merit Award scholarships may not be a new tax, but it means college freshmen will be paying higher tuition. What's that called?

What about almost doubling the state fee for renewing a driver's license, or higher fees to visit state parks. They're technically not tax increases, but they cost people more money, which is what taxes do.

Michigan's Jennifer Granholm is not the only governor to hide behind a pledge against new taxes. "No new taxes" was a popular platform for candidates in last year's campaigns.

And Michigan is not the only state facing burgeoning spending. and shrinking revenue supplies.

But sooner or later, state leaders from the governor on down -- 1 in Michigan and in state after state -- are nearing the point where they must face up to the b inevitable need to ask for more of

There is a limit to how far government can reduce spending, and still carry out its primary function, which is to tend to the legitimate needs of its citizens.

We may be almost there.

As far as draft dodgers, you must be referring to former President Clinton who spent time in Russia during the Vietnam war. I have had the honor of knowing many men who have served in the Army, Navy and Marines, and they were proud to serve. They served in Vietnam, Bosnia, Saudi Arabia, the Arctic Circle, and other areas. I am sure they would have preferred to be in another area where they could have enjoyed the comforts and enjoyment they were protecting for us, but they saluted and said "Yes, sir," and did their duty. I am proud to call many of them friends.

Millions of Iraqis await liberation by America

To the editor,

I cannot allow Cathy Lester's letter to your esteemed newspaper pass without a retort from a sensible American.

To recap, Ms. Lester believes we should, "...reach Arabs at the grass roots level." Is she referring to the maniac terrorist faction in the Middle East, or the peace loving mainstream Islamic community?

This week's murder suicide in Israel attests to the reasonableness of terrorists. These people are happy to strap bombs to their children and send them off to kill other children. These bombings are the actions of insane zealots, not a disenfranchised people who think we are treating them unfairly.

Terrorism is a weapon of the unreasonable. How do you begin a grass roots dialog with suicide bombers? How do you reason with a man who willingly pilots an airplane into a building? How do you reason with parents who are happy to strap bombs to their children? How many thousands of Americans must die in future terrorist attacks while we wait for these zealots to change their opinions of us?

No one in their right mind would opt for war over diplomacy, but we must recognize that there are times when diplomacy does not work and war is the only option. This is one of those occasions. These people have attacked us and have promised to attack us again in the future. We must stop these people and war is the only way.

There are millions of Iraqis waiting to be liberated from the Hussein dictatorship. If America does not go to their aid, who will?

Winston Churchill was one of the sanest men of the 20th century. Of course he would say, "Jaw-jaw is better than war-war." But when attacked, Churchill rallied his people to prevail against Nazi terrorism! Can we shirk our responsibilities and do less?

Current Iraq situation mirrors 1939

To the editor,

The tension in the world is high. A sovereign nation is controlled by a man seen as a tyrant from the outside and a hero from the inside.

That he has amassed an army and arsenal of weapons secretly cannot be disputed. That he has seized land before this belonging to other sovereign nations is undeniable. Still the world looks on hoping that the inevitable "next step" will not come.

The French and British both hope to avert war. The Russians turn a blind eye, thinking it could not effect them. There is no help from the United Nations because (the war) has not begun.

You see, this is the world my grandfather saw in the Spring of 1939, prior to the German invasion of Poland. They only difference is that Adolf Hitler took control of Germany in a more peaceful way than Iraqi leader, Saddam Hussein.

never served in the military, something I both regret and am thankful for at the same time. Men like Mr. Morse served in my stead, faithful to their country and to its call. They did not always personally believe in the cause and some were serving involuntarily, but they served.

They suffered the horror of war, and some experienced disgraceful mistreatment upon their return. I respectfully disagree, however, with Mr. Morse's opinion of the effectiveness and reasonability of the United States around the world.

More than 100,000 Americans lost their lives on D-Day alone. Had Adolf Hitler been stopped earlier, could this high price have been averted? Even these wars that by all accounts we "lost" (I believe we lose something any time we have to wage war), a message was still sent to the rest of the world that the United States opposes tyranny and supports democracy and was a force to be reckoned with.

We have become a generation of technology. Since the 1960s, the grim realities of war have been brought into our living rooms with dinner. I do not with a cavalier attitude, the cost just another vendetta. has been counted.

I believe our leaders, especially our current president, are feeling a heavy burden to make the right decision. I also pray for peace, I dread the loss of a single

Maple Syrup Day to be held at Hartwick Pines

On March 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hartwick Pines State Park will have a day of activities celebrating North America's oldest agricultural product, maple sugar! Visitors to the park will be able to:

- walk into the sugarbush to help tap a maple tree,
- observe the boil-down process which converts maple sap to maple syrup,
- learn about the history of maple sugar making in North America,
- view videos titled Maple Sugar Farmer, Maple Sugaring and The Maple Sugaring Story,
- ask Russell Kidd, MSU District Extension Forestry Agent questions about backyard and commercial sugaring, and
- purchase genuine maple sugar candy and syrup.

Special activities for children include helping to "build a tree," making a paper mokuk and playing a photosynthesis game. These activities instruct kids of all ages about how trees make their own food, what sap is and how trees are made up of many layers beneath the outer protective bark. Making a paper mokuk replica provides a history lesson and discussion about how European settlers learned of the Native Americans' sugaring culture. A mokuk was a birchbark container in which native people transported maple sugar.

Visitors will be able to taste maple syrup and sap, smell the aroma around an outside evaporator pan and welcome spring at this educational and fun event. Maple recipes will be available for those wishing to savor the sweetness of the day.

The Logging Museum will also be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is no fee for this event, but a motor vehicle permit is required for park entry.

The Wible Speaks

iberal Lies

Having rejected as their final authority - God, the Bible, the Declaration of Independence, and the U.S. Constitution, liberals have become their own god and their own standard for truth and morality. After gaining control of the media, education, Hollowood, and religious denominations, they have felt secure playing god from their ivory towers. Anyone who dares to challenge his or her person, position, or power is publicly branded as a dummy or liar. The one thing they cannot tolerate is ridicule. Ann Coulter's best selling book, "Slander - Liberal Lies About The American Right" is a luminous, clever work exposing the tactics and threats of liberalism in America today. Below are just a few edited quotes from her book.

Ann said, "Liberals don't believe there is such a thing as fact, or truth. Everything is a struggle for power between rival doctrines." "Liberals argue by creating semantic bedlam" "Liberals think that if they never admit to lying, there is no proof that they are lying." "The goal of modern propaganda is no longer to transform opinion but to arouse an active and mythical belief." "Like all propagandists, liberals create mythical enemies to justify their own viciousness and advance their agenda."

Ann said, "There is no bogeyman that strikes greater terror in the left than the apocryphal religious right." Ann used their own quotes showing they believe "the religious right is a very, very small minority, whose goal is to force people to do things, against their will, populated by an army of 'easily led' compones. They are 'fire-breathing,' sell out 'our children in the name of religion,' and enjoy 'narrowly defining the rights of others.' Also 'evil."

Ann said, "For twenty years, evangelical Christians had been portrayed as toothless hicks preaching for a nickel in the Ozarks. Then seamlessly, without remark on the shift in the Orwellian propaganda they were transformed into Howard Hughes money men, expertly manipulating the system." "These purported 'leaders, of the' religious right, are talismans, meant to inspire fear even as the public is trained to laugh at them reflexively." "They believe religious people are self-evidently fanatical. Religious values are hateful, homophobic, sexist, racist, and the rest of the liberal catechism unless they are kept in the closet." "Yet liberals behave as if they are under constant threat of extermination from the 'religious right." "The imaginary threat of the 'religious right' is important because it allows liberals to complain about their victimization by religious zealots."

In the last chapter of her book Ann said, "Liberals hate religion because politics is a religion substitute for liberals and they can't stand the competition." "The hatred is blinding, producing logical contradictions that would be impossible to sustain were it not for the central element faith plays in the left's new religion. The basic tenet of their faith is this: Maybe they were wrong on facts and policies, but they are good and conservatives are evil." Ann said, "You almost want to give it to them. It's all they have left."

But if or when we lose our faith and hope in our God, our Bible, our Declaration of Independence, and our U. S. Constitution, then all Americans will have nothing left but slavery and/or death. Pastor "B"

As a volunteer, you can make a difference

Volunteer opportunities available at Mercy Hospital Grayling

Every day, volunteers enrich the lives of hundreds of patients at Mercy Hospital Grayling, Mercy Manor and Mercy Family Care office practices. A friendly smile, a warm greeting, and a gentle voice are the special touches that are remembered long after a patient's recovery has been completed.

Volunteers make a significant difference in many ways and the Mercy Hospital Grayling Auxiliary has a proud history of helping to provide compassionate patient care.

"Volunteers have been a vital part of the health care team here at Mercy since 1912," said Diane Nielsen, Coordinator of Volunteer Services. "Volunteers provide countless hours of service, assisting staff, patients, and visitors with caring respect."

Meaningful volunteer opportunities are now available at Mercy Hospital facilities for those interested in becoming a part of an active, involved group.

"You may be interested in sharing your time, energy, or said Nielsen. expertise," "Volunteering has many benefits, including giving back to the community, strengthening the mission of Mercy, making a real difference in the lives of others, building lasting friendships, enjoying outside activities, and giving to others. Most of all, it's fun."

Volunteering as little as just four hours a week can make h big difference in a patient's life. as well as your own, said Nielsen.

"You probably have all the skills necessary to become volunteer. All it takes is a little compassion, a touch of friend ship, and a small dose of laughter," said Nielsen.

Mercy volunteers, whether in direct patient interaction working behind the scenes, receive specialized training in the tasks they perform.

For more information on becoming a Mercy volunteer, call Diane Nielsen at (989) 348-0594 or visit the hospital's web site: mercygrayling.munsonhealthcare.org on the Internet.

Perhaps you are hiking in the woods. You come onto a mountain stream where cool, clear water bubbles over pebbles and stones. The water is flowing toward...well. just where is the destination? At the end of its journey, this playful little stream could have become a mighty river. "But to me it's just a little stream," you say.

A mighty river is created from many little streams. With each joining tributary, meandering streams become part of a more powerful force moving with purpose toward their goal. That river might power homes or carry goods to another destination. Like the little stream, each of us is capable of becoming part of a more powerful influence for good, for God's House is made up of many souls joining to form a spiritual river which can flow through the community, the state, the nation, and ultimately, the world. We read in John 7:38 where our Lord declares... "He who believes in me, as the scripture has said, 'Out of his heart shall flow rivers of living

Won't you let God's House be your destination this Sabbath?

Name 10 people you wouldn't miss if a victim of terrorism

To the editor,

For you people who think we Americans are too harsh with the terrorists and their friends who support and arm them, perhaps you should decide where your true values lie -- with your family, your friends, your country or with some political agenda of church or state.

Make a list of your family members or friends who you wouldn't miss or mourn if they were killed or maimed (just 10 names) and then send each of them a copy just to show your resolve in your cause.

America: What a great country

To the editor,

I love America and here's

A country that would let anyone say what he or she wants anytime!

A public assembly for any

A right to pray!

A freedom of choice! A diversity of beliefs!

A choice of life! A vote for any person and it really does count! A person's right to disagree! A people so diverse as to be the fiber of our great nation.

Just look skyward at our (first) great flag of blue, red and white, with 13 bars and the first 13 states in stars, and wonder after 200 years what better reason to look forward to a nation that looks to itself for rewards and never doubts in its people's individual rights.

I love America and am willing to die for our freedoms as one nation under God!

Hospital offers help to incontinence sufferers

control, or incontinence, is a condition that affects approximately 13 million Americans - men and women, young and old - every

Mercy Hospital Grayling Rehabilitation has launched a new urinary incontinence program to help patients living with this condition.

Incontinence is a symptom that can have a wide variety of causes, including bladder infection, obesity, pregnancy, childbirth, weak pelvic floor muscle, chronic illness or cough, constipation, medications, neuromuscular disorders, stress, smoking, caffeine, diet, and hormonal changes.

The first and most difficult step for many people is to discuss your problem with a health care professional. "This is a problem that a lot of people don't like to talk about," said Leanne Sterrett, Occupational Therapist, who weak pelvic floor muscles.

Involuntary loss of bladder heads up the program at Mercy Hospital Grayling. "It's been shown that people sometimes live with this condition for seven years before discussing it with their physician."

> A patient needs a thorough examination from their physician or health care provider who is knowledgeable about evaluating and treating incontinence. That will determine if a medical condition is causing the loss of bladder control. Then they will be ready for a referral to the hospital's Rehabilitation Department for an evaluation and an individualized treatment program developed by Sterrett.

> There are two major types of urinary incontinence that can benefit from therapy. Stress incontinence is a sudden, involuntary loss of urine when you exercise or move in a certain way. Leakage is often caused by

that occurs as soon as you get the urge to use the bathroom. This sensation can be overwhelming and your bladder muscle contracts at the wrong time.

"We stress patient education about the bladder and diet," said Sterrett. "But treatment can also include pelvic floor muscle strengthening, normal emptying techniques, bladder retraining, time schedule for urination, and use of EMG/biofeedback and electrical stimulation of the pelvic floor muscles."

Therapy programs have helped many people successfully decrease or eliminate their problem of incontinence. Treatment typically involves a total of six of eight sessions held every week or

Urge incontinence is leakage said Sterrett. "Taking the first step can put them on the path to regaining bladder control."

Powered wheelchairs available

The Senior Wheels USA Program makes available power (electric) wheelchairs to senior citizens, age 65 years and older, and the permanently disabled at no cost to the recipient, if they qualify.

The power wheelchairs are provided to those who cannot walk and cannot self-propel a manual wheelchair, and who meet the additional guidelines of the program. No deposit is required.

If the patient's need is for use in the home, call 1-800-246-6010 for more information to see if they qualify.

The Senior Wheels USA Program's main purpose and goal is to develop public awareness that there are assistance options that allow senior citizens (as well as the permanently disabled) to remain independent in their own homes. Without this awareness and assistance, the family may prematurely choose a nursing home, or make an unnecessary retail purchase on power mobility equipment.

If the patient does not meet all the requirements of the program, Senior Wheels USA may still be able to help them through its donation program, made available when people donate power wheelchairs they no longer need.

Kirtland announces date for 10th Annual Warbler Festival

ROSCOMMON - The 10th annual Kirtland's Warbler Festival, a celebration of the comeback from near extinction by one of the world's rarest birds, has been set for May 17 at the college that stands as the songbird's namesake.

The day-long event on the beautiful campus of Kirtland Community College - in the heart of the jack pine forest the bird calls home from May to September – features a variety of activities, including two guided tours that give birders a rare glimpse of the warbler.

The festival attracts thousands annually. Last year, despite a cold day that began with snow flurries, nearly 2,000 people attended from as far away as Brazil and Canada and from 10

"We're delighted that the Warbler Festival is being attending by serious birders from all across the country," said Jim Enger, Kirtland's marketing director and the chairman of the festival's organizing committee. "It's developing a reputation as one of the premier birding and nature events in the country, and it's giving our school the kind of national recognition that is so rare for a community college."

Last year, the festival began with the circling of a bald eagle hovering majestically over a pond near a group where about 40 birders had gathered for the 7 a.m. trek to the forest to see the Ext. 266 or visit the website at:

Governor's Service Awards need nominations

Every day, volunteers are making a real difference in communities all across the state of The Governor's Michigan. Service Awards recognize and celebrate the exemplary efforts of these volunteers.

Beginning in May, award winners and honorable mention recipients will be recognized monthly. The Governor's Service Awards winners will receive a plaque and Special Tribute from the Governor at a local ceremony. They will also be recognized on the MCSC (Michigan Community Service Commission) web site.

Four award categories have been developed to cover different types of volunteers:

• The Governor George Romney Lifetime Achievement Award is presented annually to an individual who has demonstrated a lifelong commitment to community involvement and volunteer service. The deadline for submission of nominations for the Romney Award is Friday, March 21, 2003. The Romney Award will be presented at the Grantmakers/Grantseekers conference on May 20, 2003 in Lansing.

Additional Governor's Service Awards and honorable mentions for exemplary service are presented monthly to:

• Individuals - Recipients could be youth, adult or seniors who are giving back to their communities through mentoring or other volunteer activities; educators who are utilizing servicelearning in the classroom or involving their students in mentoring or other community service activities; National Service program members such as RSVP, Foster Grandparents, and Senior Companions, AmeriCorps, and AmeriCorps*VISTA. This category also includes individuals who, as part of their jobs, manage programs that provide service to the community.

• Families or Groups -Recipients could be families that volunteer together; employee groups; youth groups; adult service organizations; other formal or informal groups of people working together to make a dif-

• Organizations: Nonprofits, Educational Faith-Based, Businesses Institutions, Recipients could be nonprofit or faith-based organizations whose volunteers are critical in achieving their mission; schools of any kind who are engaging in significant number of their students in service-learning and/or other volunteer activities such as mentoring, tutoring, neighborhood clean ups, etc.; National Service programs (AmeriCorps, Learn and Serve, Senior Corps); businesses and corporations who promote corporate citizenship in their business practices including employee volunteerism; media outlets who promote and support community service and volunteerism.

"Within the course of everyday life lie a thousand opportunities to give your life meaning through service to country and community... Answer the call, citizen patriots, answer it for your own soul that is made to care, to serve and to belong," said Governor Jennifer Granholm.

To receive a 2003 Governor's Service Awards Nomination form, visit the MCSC web site at www.michigan.gov/mcsc, click on "Programs & Activities" in the left margin and then click on Governor's Service Awards; or contact Kathie Vasilion at (517) 373-4200.

Since Governor's Service Awards are given monthly, there are no nomination deadlines -except for the Romney Award. Nominations for all other Governor's Service Awards may be submitted at any time.

The awards process is managed by the MCSC. All nominations will be screened by the MCSC staff.

A volunteer peer review panel meets quarterly to review nominations and select award winners and honorable mention recipi-

Local bottled water wins bronze medal at competition

by Susan Warrington Staff Writer

Avita Artesian Spring Water of Grayling won a bronze medal at the Thirteenth Annual Berkeley Springs International Water Tasting held at Berkeley Springs, West Virginia, in February.

The water tasting contest involved more than 100 waters from across the country and around the globe. Watermaster Arthur von Wiesenberger, a noted expert from Santa Barbara California directed the challenge of evaluating a product where eral content, has a slightly alkatastelessness is the most sought after quality. This "granddaddy of water tastings" was divided into municipal water, non-carbonated bottled water and purified drinking water competitions.

Representatives from nine organizations around the world picked Avita as the bronze medal winner in the non-carbonated bottled water class. Avita with a total of 463 points, missed winning the gold medal by only four points.

The water is very low in min-

line pH of 7.1 and was judged to have exceptional appearance and great taste.

Avita is bottled at a 200 acre private estate totally surrounded by the AuSable State Forest located between Roscommon and Grayling. Terry Maurer, of Grayling, is the owner and president of Avita.

Avita can be purchased at various locations throughout the county. It is also available throughout lower Michigan, and in Chicago, Washington D.C., New Jersey and California.

Seventy-five students at Owners Association (ARSPOA). The success of this project hinged on the exceptional dedication and work of GMS teacher, grade science students.

The contest encouraged participants to write on any of several subject areas: the influence of environmental factors on the AuSable River, the river water quality, the river as a multi-recreational resource, the river's affects on the local economy, or the history and future of our wonderful river resource.

The ARSPOA Board of Directors considered the essays outstanding and far beyond their expectations for the depth of thought, knowledge, research, consideration, and writing abilities of these eighth graders. Several of the essays will be published in the ARSPOA newsletter sent to hundreds of local property owners.

The ARSPOA Board of Directors awarded over $600 in prizes and acknowledgements to the participants in the contest. The three top prize winners were Scot Olson, Doug Slater, and Mike Cole, respectively. They received $100, $75 and $50 savings bonds as prizes. Another top 12 writers received awards of $10 each, and the remaining students each received $5.

All students received a personalized certificate acknowledging their participation and their efforts.

The ARSPOA will be awarding a commemorative plaque to Grayling Middle School to acknowledge the work that Mesack and her students have done to understand and protect the AuSable River. ARSPOA Board hopes the contest will continue as an annual

Three bills to help reduce prescription drug prices for all

Building on the strong bipartisan support shown in the U.S. Senate for prescription drug reform last summer, U.S. Senator Debbie Stabenow (D-MI) and other senators reintroduced legislation that makes a three-pronged attack on the rising drug prices faced by all Americans.

"The 78-21 vote recorded in the Senate on July 31 made clear that my colleagues on both sides of the aisle recognize the crisis faced by seniors, businesses and other consumers in trying to deal with skyrocketing prescription drug prices," Stabenow said. "We are reintroducing the key portions of that legislation in the belief that it once again will be passed in the Senate and that it will be taken up for consideration in the U.S. House."

Stabenow's bill, the "Rx Flexibility for States Act" one of three rolled out March 5 at a press event in the U.S. Capitol, is a reprise of her 2002 legislative language approved by the Senate last year. The bill would permit states to extend Medicaid rebates and discounts for prescription drugs to non-Medicaid eligible persons.

A second piece of legislation would allow U.S. residents to import up to a 90-day supply of prescription drugs from Canada for their own use, and it would allow U.S.-licensed pharmacists and drug wholesalers to import FDA-approved drugs from Canada for resale.

The third bill would streamline the process of bringing lower-priced generic drugs to market by removing some of the tools used by brand-name manufacturers to block or stall the market appearance of a generic brand.

News from Grayling Elementary & AuSable Primary Schools

Grayling Middle School seventh grade students from the Nama/Packard/Hamlin team presented an oral report on famous black people, in honor of Black History month, to Mrs. Laurie Canfield's third and all fourth and fifth grade classes at Grayling Elementary School.

Mrs. Lori Fox and Mrs. Suzanne Williams 2/3 multi-age class had another tag reward party. Students who removed less than 50 tags in the marking period were rewarded with lunch, supplied by their teachers, and a sledding party out on the big hill on the playground.

Mrs. Lori Patterson/Mrs. Kathee Sheldon's first grade class had a guest speaker for Dental Health month, Mrs. Ann Malm brought in large models of teeth and a big toothbrush to demonstrate the proper way to brush teeth. The students all brushed their own teeth, then chewed a disclosing tablet to show the spots missed in brushing. The students then brushed their teeth again to make sure they brushed thoroughly.

Along with learning proper brushing, the class did an experiment with eggs in glasses of soda, which showed how food friend. and drinks could stain teeth or cause cavities.

AuSable Primary handed out Box Tops for Education coloring pages to be taken home and colored. Students who brought back their page with two box tops received a prize from Mrs. Mick. Six hundred forty-seven box tops were turned in.

March is National Reading Month and each classroom is celebrating with a challenge, The theme for the month at AP is Pioneers. Come in and see the covered wagon in the lobby and look for the calendar packed with pioneer theme activities.

Mrs. Pam Alexander and Mrs. Cheryl Hatfield's first grade classes will be having a variety of guest readers for the month.

Mrs. Kelly Moffit's second grade class will have two contests during the month. One contest will see who can read the most books at home for the month. The other contest will be to see who can watch the least amount of television during the month. The winners of each contest will win a pizza dinner with Mrs. Moffit and a Reading Across America is the theme in 2/3 multi-age class of Mrs. Lori Fox and Mrs. Suzanne Williams. The students are challenged to read as many books as they can in order to "pass through" the states marked on a U.S. map. The students will begin on the east coast and move their covered wagons through the marked states to the west coast.

Mrs. Laurie Canfield's third grade class will have a race called the Iditaread. The Alaska Iditarod dog sled race began March 1 and each student chose a musher to follow. They will check the progress of their musher and will also be learning about Alaska and arctic animals during the month.

The Iditaread allows the student to move their musher two miles along the course for every page of a chapter book they

Students that read all 1,049 pages in the month will have a special celebration and an award, just like the real race.

Porter, a 2000 graduate of Grayling High School, was featured along with other chosen female art students. Her woodcut prints, entitled, "Growth" and "Moving Target" were displayed as part of an afternoon reception. Both prints were chosen from the Art Department as works created by young women. Her work will be housed in the Kirkhoff Center at GVSU for one year, and then offered for public sale, a spokesman said. Lindsay is the daughter of Lynn Caudy-Nally and Robert Porter.

Armed Forces Emergency Services and Camp Grayling

Did you know that the Red Cross has trained volunteers at Camp Grayling to relay family emergency messages? Did you know you could assist as a Red Cross volunteer caseworker?

Providing the communications link between service members and their families during family emergencies is the second required service of the American Red Cross. In 1905 the United States Congress identified the American Red Cross as the responsible agency to handle family emergency communications, even though the Red Cross is not a government agency and receives no funds to implement this pro-

Local Red Cross volunteer Ralph Krolczyck is there to help when an Armed Forces service member has a family emergency. As a trained caseworker, Ralph is ready to take calls that will be forwarded to the service person.

"It is hard to deal with the fact that a family member will be separated for a long time, even when 'all is well', but when there is a serious family emergency, having the Red Cross available to assist makes managing the emergency a lot easier. I am pleased to help out in a small way under such circumstances", stated Ralph.

As a volunteer caseworker, Ralph and his fellow volunteers receive calls from military families needing help. Often, it is due to a death in a family or other serious illness. Ralph takes the information related to the emergency, and gathers contact information about the service member. Next, he must verify the information given before the message is forwarded through the military. This verification step is invaluable to the military. The message is delivered to the service member's commanding officer, which will determine if the service member can be released to go home for the emergency.

The caseload for such messages has increased by 25% since July 2002, as the troop deployments have risen.

During the summer months when Camp Grayling is bustling with training troops, the Red Cross has an office at Camp Grayling to process messages for the National Guard troops. The caseworker volunteers have an 'efficiency apartment' along with an office. Coverage is 24 hours a day while troops are in training.

A core of nine area volunteers provides this service during the summer. "Our local volunteers have gotten much more involved at Camp Grayling. The caseworkers enjoy helping our National Guard members by taking these messages. Some days are very busy all day, and then other times are very quiet. There is no way to anticipate the workload since we are responding to external circumstances," explains Krolczyck: Last summer over 120 messages were processed at Camp Grayling. If you would like to become an Armed Forces caseworker, please contact the Red Cross at 732-7161 or 800 691-6059.

Senate says no to use of 900 numbers; bill now goes to State House

LANSING - 36th District State Sen. Tony Stamas (R-Midland) said a bill he sponsored which would prohibit state government agencies and departments from using fee telephone numbers to charge callers who want to access public information, passed the full Senate with a unanimous vote.

Some state agencies, including the Department of Consumer and Industry Services, have been charging as much as $1.50 per minute to access public information.

"Public information should be free of charge to hard-working, tax-paying citizens," Stamas said. "I am happy my colleagues unanimously agreed that the state should no longer collect this type if income from Michigan's residents."

Senate Bill 180 will now go to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Overtime loss ends Grayling's season

► Grayling falls to Roscommon 66-63 in first round of play-offs

by Caleb Casey Staff Writer

The GHS varsity boys basketball team lost to Roscommon 66-63 in overtime last Monday in a District Tournament game at Cheboygan High School, ending Grayling's season.

The Vikings led the Bucks 29-19 at halftime, but Roscommon rallied for a 22-10 third quarter. Grayling had a chance to win the game in regulation, but missed the last shot of the fourth quarter, leaving the contest locked in a 59-59 tie. In overtime, the Vikings had opportunities down the stretch but couldn't convert.

It was a back-and-forth game all the way through.

Grayling scored the first two baskets of the game – a shot inside by Adam Kaiser and a lay-up by Gibson Tobin – to lead 4-0 early in the first quarter. A 7-0 run by Roscommon gave the Bucks a 7-4 advantage. A drive by Kaiser and a jump shot by Roy Czapek put the Vikings up by one.

The Bucks scored the last five points of the first quarter to lead 12-8 going into the second period. The Vikings had trouble finishing shots for much of the first eight minutes of play.

GHS opened the second quarter with an 8-0 run, which included drives by Tobin and Kaiser, a shot inside by Roger Alvarez, and a jumper by Tobin. Roscommon broke its three-minute scoring drought with a pair of free throws. A jumper by Andy Strohpaul and a triple by Travis Helsel put Grayling up 21-14.

With a triple by Alvarez, a jumper by Strohpaul, and free throws by Strohpaul and Tobin, Grayling led 29-19 at halftime.

The Bucks outscored Grayling 22-10 in the third period. Roscommon got its perimeter shooting game going, and it accounted for four three-pointers in the quarter.

Grayling scored its 10 third quarter points on two jumpers by Czapek and free throws by Kaiser, Joe Lange, and Tobin.

A put-back by Roscommon gave the Bucks a four-point lead. A put-back by Tobin cut it back to two. Two jumpers by the Bucks put RHS ahead by six, 47-41. A lay-up by Tobin pulled GHS back within four

CHIROPRACTOR-WHEN SPORTS DON'T WORK

Are you concerned about keeping

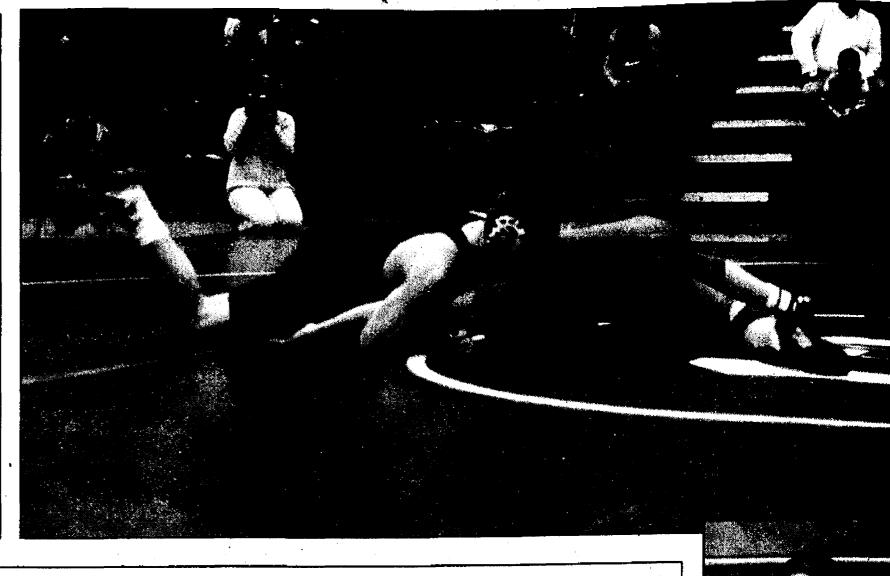

your body in good condition? You should be, especially if your job does not include a lot of physical activity.

You may have a favorite sport that helps you fill this need. But if you can't play often enough, or if the sport doesn't give you enough of a workout to maintain good muscle tone, it should be supplemented with exercise. Take golf, for example. In days of yore, golfers used to walk the full 18 holes. Now, many golfers "ride and play," using tone. Sit-ups, push-ups, side twists, and neck rotations can be helpful. But don't try to over-achieve. Perform with moderation and gradually build up your sta-

It's also a good idea to have regular checkups to find out if your spine and nervous system are in good condition. If there are any defects, they can usually be corrected with proper treatment.

Brandon Pratt 6th Place, State GHS wrestler places State Brandon Pratt earns 26th State Finals medal for Grayling HS

GHS wrestler Brandon Pratt (171) brought home Grayling High School's 26th state wrestling medal by finishing 6th in his weight class at the State Wrestling Finals at the Palace of Auburn Hills this past weekend.

Pratt was one of two GHS wrestlers to qualify for the State Finals this year. Dusty Partello (152), a junior, was the other.

Michigan's state wrestling meet is the largest high school wrestling championships in the nation. Over 40,000 fans attended this year's finals.

In his first match of the tournament, Pratt faced Jeff O'Mara of Goodrich, son of former GHS wrestler Dennis O'Mara. (O'Mara won the match by decision, 4-2, and went on to place 2nd.)

Pratt went on to place 6th in the 171-pound weight class. He finished the season with a 44-11 overall win/loss record.

Partello came down with the flu on the first day of the competition and did not place high enough to win a state medal.

"Dusty showed a lot of courage and gave it his very best to compete, but couldn't give 100 percent," said Don Ferguson, GHS wrestling coach. "Dusty is a junior this year, so he will have another chance at the title next year."

"Both Brandon and Dusty represented Grayling with outstanding sportsmanship and showed a lot of class," Coach Ferguson said. "You will see a lot more of these two fine athletes next year."

Ferguson said the wrestling team got good support from the parents, school administrators, teachers, and students this year. He also acknowledged donations made by Holiday Inn (luncheon), Glen's Market (fruit baskets), and 7-11 (water).

The Bucks went to the line for a one-and-one free throw chance, and missed. Helsel came down with the rebound. Grayling turned the ball over with about a minute left in the fourth quarter.

Grayling knocked the ball loose and Lange saved the ball from going out of bounds, getting it in to Kaiser. Kaiser dished to Tobin, and Roscommon fouled to stop the clock. With 30 seconds left, Tobin hit one of two free throws. Grayling led 59-57.

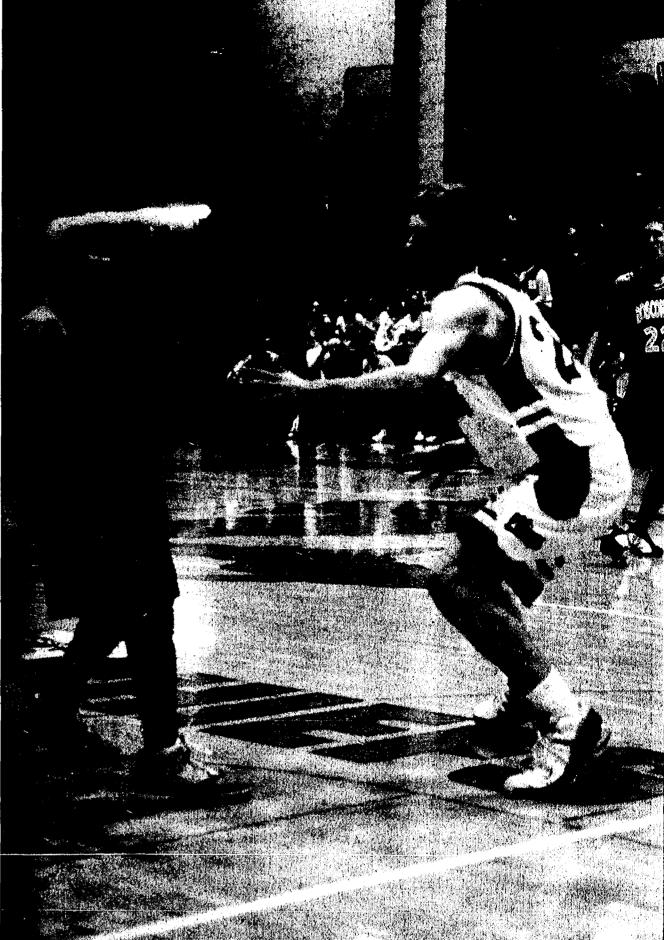

Roscommon scored a shot inside with 14 seconds left in regulation, tying the game at 59-

The Vikings got the ball in and across half-court, then called a time-out. Grayling got the ball in and got off a three-point shot, but it missed and the clock expired. The contest headed into a four-minute overtime period.

Grayling scored first in overtime on a drive by Kaiser. Roscommon tied the score with a jump shot. Another drive by Kaiser gave GHS a two-point edge. A pair of free throws by Roscommon tied the score at 63-63. The Bucks got the ball back and converted for two.

Grayling tried for three and missed. Grayling's defense held the Bucks on their end of the court and Roscommon was whistled for a 10-second viola-

The Vikings were called for another foul away from the ball while working on their offensive end of the court. Roscommon missed both of the resulting free throws, leaving the RHS lead at 65-63. Helsel grabbed the rebound on the second miss.

The Vikings missed a jump shot and Roscommon came away with the ball. Grayling fouled to stop the clock. The Bucks hit one of two free throws, to lead by three, 66-63, with 23 seconds left in the game.

The Vikings shot a potential game-tying triple, and missed. Roscommon rebounded, and that

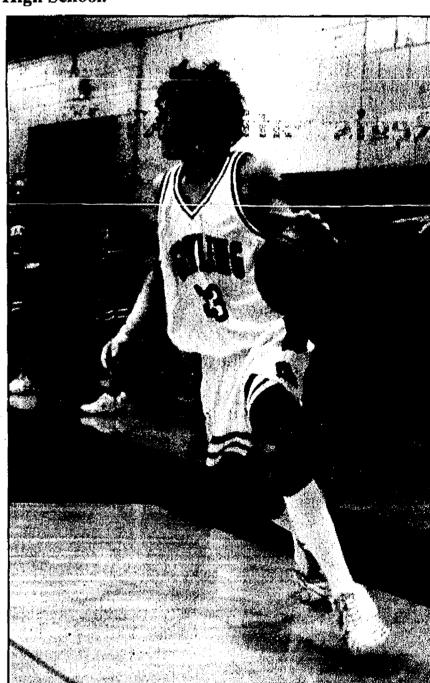

The Bucks won 66-63, knocking Grayling out of the play-offs.

"This was a frustrating loss for our team," Coach Rich Moffit said. "Missed lay-ups, missed free throws, not executing a key play - it was just tough to watch. We had done those things in our prior game vs. Roscommon."

Tobin was the leading scorer for Grayling in the match with a game-high 21 points. Kaiser finished with 15 points.

Now, the team - a young group with just three seniors (only one of whom is a starter) is looking ahead to next season.

"We surprised people this year and won the NEMC," Coach Moffit said. "We need to improve during the off-season. Our new league (the Lake Michigan Conference) will be a big challenge for us next year."

LOCAL ICE FISHERMAN HAS SUCCESSFUL MORNING

Rick Brown of Grayling recently caught this 26-inch, seven-pound rainbow trout while ice fishing on Higgins Lake. "It was Sunday morning, around 7 a.m., and the fight was on. She ran about 50 feet in one foot of water. The wind was blowing hard. The rainbow lasted about 15 minutes. Finally, after the second time trying to bring her in the hole, I reached down - with hands in water - to pull her to the ice," Brown said. "Another cold, great morning on Higgins Lake."

Caution urged while using space heaters

With a few more weeks of winter remaining and temperatures averaging below normal, Consumers Energy reminds everyone who uses supplemental heating to do so safely.

Supplemental heaters, or space heaters, are typically electric or kerosene fueled. Most space heaters are designed to heat a single room or the equivalent area. Safe use of space heaters requires a good portion of common sense and a thorough understanding of the manufacturer's instructions.

Consumers Energy offers the following space heater safety

• When purchasing an electric space heater, make sure it has the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) label and always read and follow

the manufacturer's instructions.

- Do not use an extension cord or defeat the ground prong of electric space heaters. Some extension cords cannot handle the amount of electricity needed to operate a space heater, and could cause a fire. The ground prong helps prevent electric shock.
- Keep the heater away from furniture, walls, draperies or anything flammable.
- Keep electric heaters away from water and never touch the heater when you're wet.
- Always unplug the heater before you go to bed or leave home.
- Make sure automatic shutoff switches are functioning - to turn off a heater if it tips over.
 - Use only approved 1-K

Never substitute gasoline.

• When purchasing a fueled heater be sure to buy a unit with an ODS (oxygen depletion system) that shuts the heater off when oxygen levels fall below a safe level.

Some fueled space heaters are designed only for use outdoors.

kerosene in fueled heaters. If a heater can be safely used indoors it will normally be marked on the device, on packaging and in the manufacturer's, instructions.

> Never use an outdoor space heater in an enclosed area. Improper use of a fueled space heater can lead to carbon monoxide poisoning or death.

Home Heating Credit forms available

This year's Home Heating Credit forms are available now at Consumers Energy's bill payment offices. Low-income Michigan residents can get up to $150 or more for their winter energy bills through the Home Heating Credit program.

Residents can also get the forms at public libraries or by calling the utility's toll-free 1-800-477-5050. number, They're also available from the Department of Michigan Treasury by calling 1-800-367-

The Department of Treasury offers help in filling out the forms at 1-800-487-7000. (The form is MI-1040CR-7.) A number of volunteer sites also are available for low-income residents who need help filling out? Home Heating Credit forms and income tax forms.

Residents can get information about the nearest volunteer site, by calling Consumers Energy's toll-free number.

An insert in Consumers Energy's February bills provide? details about the Home Heating? Credit and how to file for it. Last year, 298,350 Michigan residents got $77.4 million in aid through the program, which is funded by the federal Low-Energy 3 Home Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

The Home Heating Credit? isn't a tax credit, so residents can apply immediately. The credit is based on how much low-incomed residents spent on home heating? from November 1, 2001 through October 31, 2002. The credit can be applied to all heating costs including propane and purchased firewood. The deadline to file is September 30, 2003.
